We are advertising at present a $16.50 Suit, Cutaway one of the shapes, the other, an easy Sack.

The Material.—Clay Diagonal Worsted. It will prove its goodness in its staying power—in its long wear.

We have made 1000 Suits to begin with. You know what a difference in price between building 400 houses and 4. It's the same in making 1000 suits, else we wouldn't sell it for $16.50.

A New Industry.

In no one thing, perhaps, is the progress of the age more apparent than in those pertaining to building, and the least observing must have noticed that great changes have been effected in recent years, particularly in mortar. The day is past when builders monopolize the street in preparing this material, and the long array of beds of lime, sand and then the prepared mortar, has been relegated to builders who pride themselves on doing as their grandfathers did. Since April, 1891, a process, known as the Warner process of making machine-made mortar, has been in successful operation at Wilmington, Delaware, and the success of the process has been remarkable and due to several causes, among which may be mentioned that the lime is retained in bulk for a period sufficient to insure its gradual loss of heat, its slow, but thorough, digestion, and its becoming finally cold and homogeneous and assuming a putty-like consistency. This retention also insures the production of a mortar of extraordinary tensile strength and remarkable smoothness, and a freedom from unslaked particles of lime, stones and various other foreign materials.

Not the least advantage of this process is that there is no increase of cost to the consumer, and the same amount of work can be done with about 20 per cent. less material, and, as no time is lost by the workmen in removing impurities, they are able to do about 30 per cent. more work in a given time. The advantage, however, which appeals to the wide-awake contractor, builder and business man is that it is no longer necessary to suspend building operations when cold weather sets in, as the process is carried on under cover during all seasons of the year, and the mortar may be stored under shelter and used when needed.

As nothing succeeds like success, and the Charles Warner Company being worked to its full capacity, it was determined to seek a more extended field of operation, and a company was formed to be known as the Quaker City Mortar Company, of Philadelphia, incorporated in the State of Pennsylvania with a paid-up capital of $200,000. The purpose of the company was the erection of an extensive plant for the manufacture and sale of mortar made by the Warner process. The success of this organization was a foregone conclusion from the start, and the plant of the company, at Twenty-third and Filbert Streets, will at once, without doubt, take front rank among the many industrial establishments for which Philadelphia is celebrated. The capacity of production of the new plant is two million pounds of machine-made mortar every ten hours, produced by the use of mixing machines, any one of which is capable of turning out, delivered in wagons, three tons of mortar every four minutes. This mortar, which can be made of any desired color, is delivered for use at the place of use by chute wagons or by cars, which, in large operations, can be switched to any part of the city at a small cost. The plant proper consists of the main house, containing a 250-horse power Corliss engine, with boilers to correspond, sand and lime storage rooms, a number of slaking pans, receiving vats for storage of slaked material, sieves and pumping facilities, and a belt thirty inches wide by which the lime and sand are transported to any desired point in the building.

There is also a mixing house, five stories high, in material and lime, pure and simple, is, as is well known, a great protection, when properly applied, as is done by the process under which this new company operates. The process itself not only presents one of the most remarkable and valuable discoveries of the day, but deals with a staple product which has heretofore been commercially made only in the crudest and most unscientific manner.

Such eminent chemists and scientists as Professor Charles F. Chandler, of Columbia College, New York, and Professor Henry Morton, of Stevens Institute, Hoboken, N. J., have examined this material and given it their unqualified approval, the latter writing: "I have myself examined the lime paste and machine-made mortar manufactured in accordance with the specifications of the Warner & Curry patent, and find them to possess the homogeneous character, high tensile strength and smoothness claimed for them," while Professor Chandler says: "I find that the lime paste and the mortar prepared with it possesses all the peculiar qualities described in the specifications: Superior smoothness, homogeneous character and a binding power far superior to ordinary mortar." The following extract from a letter written by O. C. Bosbyshell, Superintendent of the Mint at Philadelphia, will doubtless be interesting reading:

"I would cheerfully recommend the mortar to anyone requiring its use. The Custodian, after a careful examination and comparison as to cost, reports it less expensive than hand-made mortar and free from lumps, gravel, etc., the hair well distributed through the mass and ready for application as soon as delivered in the shipping boxes, which was quite a convenience as well as a pleasure, causing no delay in handling by plasterers and laborers." The President of the Quaker City Mortar Company is Wm. H. Albertson, a practical plasterer, and closely identified with the building interests of Philadelphia. The Vice President, Edward Tatnall Warner, is also the President of the Warner Process Mortar Company, of Wilmington, Delaware. The Secretary and Treasurer, Ralph Peverley, is also identified with the Wilmington Company, and the Directors include such well-known business men as:

WM. H. ALBERTSON,	E. T. WARNER,
HENRY C. BUTCHER,	ALLEN B. RORKE,
AMOS R. LITTLE,	JOHN ATKINSON,

which is placed the machinery for the proper amalgamation and final preparation of the material, and containing chutes for loading the wagons. Besides these, a large stable is connected with the establishment, with a capacity of accommodating one hundred and twenty-five horses and fifty-three wagons and carts for delivering the mortar to any part of the city.

To architects, engineers, contractors, bricklayers, plasterers, stone masons, laborers, and, in fact, to all persons interested in the building of a great city, the establishing of a new industry is of peculiar significance, and becomes a valuable factor in their line of work, particularly when the importance is considered of living in dwellings covered with a material that will protect the inmates from the ills of life that are incident to contact with impurities in building

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, OCT. 26, 1892.

THE American Fire Insurance Co., 308 and 310 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, has declared a semi-annual dividend of five per cent. on the capital stock of the company for the six months ending September 30, 1892. This evidence of prosperity is only what might be expected from the sound business methods and policy which characterizes this old and well-established company.

WE are in receipt of a pamphlet from The Evans Furnace Works of this city, containing much interesting information regarding the "Pure Air" Furnace and its adaptability to general use. From the data presented it would seem that this furnace is an invention calculated to remove many of the objections and prejudices against heated air as a means of warmth, as, under the Evans System, it is a large body of cold, fresh air, moderately heated, instead of a limited flow of intensely heated air. Considerable stress is laid upon this one feature of the Evans Furnace, as well as upon the asbestos lining, which prevents loss of heat by false radiation, as the outside of the furnace is always cold to the touch. Neither is there any escape of hot air up the chimney after the fire is once started, and thus a great saving of coal is effected, to the infinite satisfaction of the consumer. The fire chamber is not part of the radiating surface, hence the air never comes in contact with surfaces that enclose the coals of the fire, and, as the radiating surfaces never become red hot, there is an absence of that disagreeable odor of burnt iron with which so many are familiar. Welded boiler tubes are also used, and the joints are gas tight; besides which it has an eccentric sifting grate and many other features calculated to make it a favorite wherever used.

Architect Notes.

Collins and Autenreith, architects, 410 Walnut Streets, have completed all plans for a dye works at American and Huntingdon Streets, to be one story, built of brick, and furnished with steam power and machinery.

Hazelhurst and Huckel, architects, Drexel Building, have made plans in detail for the Church of the Saviour, at Broadway and Merrick Streets, Camden, N. J. The building will be Gothic in style, open rafter work, stained glass windows and best seating accommodations.

Minerva Parker Nichols, architect, 14 South Broad Street, has furnished all the plans in detail for the operation of the Moore Brothers during the present building season. These are of quite a varied nature, introducing many new features of art ornamentation and general comfort to dwelling houses.

The annual meeting of the American Institute of Architects was held in Chicago on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week, and representatives from nearly every city in the United States were present. Samuel Huckel represented the Philadelphia chapter. The meetings were held in one of the exhibition buildings at the World's Fair Grounds.

Angus S. Wade, architect, Hale Building, Chestnut and Juniper Streets, has awarded the contract for alteration and addition to house of Dr. C. C. Faught, 861 North Broad Street, to Jos. Bird, contractor, 1029 Race Street. These drawings are quite handsome in design, and quite a large amount of work will be done. We noted in full the operation some time since in architectural notes.

W. Frisbey Smith, architect, N. E. corner of Broad and Arch Streets, has made plans for a fine three-story stable to be erected at Broad and Norris Streets (rear) Southeast corner, for S. S. Fritz. The structure will be of stretcher brick, dark mortar, windows to have elliptical heads, round corners, and the whole trimmed with brownstone. Interior will have a carriage lift, cement floors and open and box stalls. The best of modern accommodations will be introduced.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

J. P. J. Sensenderfer, City Commissioner of Philadelphia, will build a country residence in Ivyland, Bucks County, and has awarded the contract to R. M. Barton.

The First Methodist Episcopal congregation of Germantown has appointed a committee to select a site upon which to erect a new church building on the west side of Germantown.

The Warden Manufacturing Company at Allegheny Avenue, east of Nineteenth Street, will at once begin the construction of an iron boiler shop one story high, 65x124 feet in area.

Mauri L. Peterman, builder, 873 Brooklyn street, will at once begin erecting a number of two-story houses at Forty-third and Ogden Streets. All to be of press brick, stone facings and steps, with best interior work.

James Lilly, builder, 1222 Snyder Avenue, will at once begin the erection of nine two-story dwellings at Second and Jackson Streets. They are to be of red press brick, stone facings and modern accommodations on interior.

William Steele & Son, contractors, 506 Walnut Street, will at once erect a factory 45 x 63 feet, three stories high. Also a wing 18 x 36 feet on south side of Tioga street, west of Trenton Avenue, to have steam power and appliances.

C. C. Moore & Co., builders, 2001 North Broad Street, will at once begin the erection of thirteen two-story dwellings on Orleans, north side, above Emerald Street. All to be of press brick, brownstone fronts and steps and best interior arrangements.

Wm. R. Dougherty, contractor and builder, 1604 Sansom Street, has been awarded the contract to erect the new buildings for the Friends' Asylum at Frankford, and will begin operations at once. This operation has been fully noted in previous issues of this journal.

George G. Pierie has purchased of Colonel Henry D. Paxson, agent for Chief Justice Paxson, a tract of land containing about ten acres on the York Road in Buckingham township. It is a part of the property recently purchased by Chief Justice Paxson of the heir of Sarah R. Maris.

Builder John G. Ruff has bought a lot of ground on northwest corner of Forty-fourth and Chestnut Streets for building purposes, and will begin the erection of seventeen two-story houses of eight rooms each. These will be a fine class of dwellings, stone and brick, with best accommodations on interior.

James I. Comly, builder, has bought of William Trautwine, a corner lot at Forty-first and Girard Avenue upon which he will build a fine house, which will be in keeping with the operation just finished adjoining, and for all of which the plans were prepared by J. C. Worthington, architect, 1305 Arch Street, Phila.

Hunter & Nock, builders, Drexel Building, will at once erect twenty-eight dwellings on Fifty-eighth Street near Hunter's Lane, and fourteen more on Jefferson, west of Fifty-fifth Street. All to be two stories, with good interior accommodations. Material for walls will be best press brick, dark mortar and stone trimmings.

It is understood that Irvin & Carty, proprietors of the Knickerbocker Lime Co., have purchased the lot on Twenty-fourth Street, south of Callowhill Street, used recently by J. J. Kersey as a coal yard. The new owners purpose, in the near future, the erection of a mortar manufacturing plant of considerable proportion.

At Roxborough, Philadelphia, John E. Parmer has purchased an acre of ground at Cynwyd, Montgomery Co., Pa., and will erect a handsome residence. The price paid was $4000.

R. C. Ballinger & Co., contractors, 218 North Thirteenth Street, have received the contract to erect the new station house at Front and Westmoreland Streets after plans prepared by Jno. T. Windrim, architect, 132 South Third Street, and which have been fully noted in a previous number of this journal. The structure will be of stone, terra cotta, brick and iron construction.

It is reported that negotiations are in progress between Allen B. Rorke and members of a Jewish congregation in relation to the purchase of the property on Spring Garden Street, between Thirteenth Street and Ridge Avenue, now owned by Mr. Rorke. It is said a synagogue is contemplated to be erected on the site if the negotiations are successful.

John M. Sharp, builder, is still enlarging his plans for the erection of dwelling houses upon the site of the late House of Refuge. These houses are of the best materials and workmanship and as fast as they are built they will be placed upon the market for sale and to rent. Press brick, stone trimmings, electric bells, and best of sanitary plumbing with all modern conveniences introduced.

A movement is now on foot to have Twenty-second Street, south from Hamilton Street, repaved on account of the terrible condition in which it is from continued use and the failure of the experimental pavement laid some five or six years ago. Alexander Crow, Jr., and a number of citizens of the Eighth, Tenth and Fifteenth wards are moving in the matter with Councilmen representing the wards named above.

The Jessup & Moore Paper Company sent a communication, on the 20th inst., to the Board of Health offering to put up a $2500 building for disinfecting rags and wool by steam at the Lazaretto, provided they are allowed to charge a small price when the building is used by others and permitted to disinfect at once the rags landed from the Kate Fawcett and Loch Elive. The letter was referred to the Lazaretto and Sanitary Committees.

Harry C. Webster, president of the Jarden Brick Company, has just leased a tract of 160 acres of ground at Twenty-sixth Street and Point Breeze Avenue for the purpose of enlarging the plant and which was noted in this journal some months ago. The company will place six immense brick machines and will erect as many kilns and other necessary machinery. This is rendered needful on account of the large orders for future work.

At Manayunk, Philadelphia, Dr. Charles E. Myers has purchased property at the corner of Hamilton Street and Green Lane, and will improve the site by the erection of a handsome three-story brick dwelling. It will be finely finished on the interior and contain modern improvements and conveniences. The plans have been drawn by Will Decker, architect, Philadelphia.—Tyrrell Brothers will introduce cold and hot water baths into their establishment on Main Street in the basement of the new office building of Oliver S. Keely.

Owing to the settling of the tower of the Seventh M. E. Church, at the corner of Norris Street, the trustees have decided to take it down in part at once and roof it for the winter. The north wall has cracked considerably and will oblige the congregation to strengthen it. The structure was built in 1883, but subsequently a sewer was laid of large proportions parallel with the lines of the church, and it is supposed caused the foundations to settle. There is no danger to the main building, as all the weight rests upon iron girders and columns inside of the outer walls.

Samuel Hart & Son, contractors, 1109 Fairmount Avenue, will begin the erection of a large ear house for the Traction Co. at Sunderland Avenue and Christian Street. It will be 30 x 260 feet, one story high. Also a large brick sugar refinery building at Reed Street Wharf, 75 x 75 feet, four stories high, to be of brick, stone and iron and considerable cement work. The same contractor will erect quite a large storehouse for the American Sugar Refining Co. on the west side of Delaware Avenue below South Street. This will be six stories high and built also of brick, stone and iron principally. Work upon all will be started at the same time.

Negotiations have for some time been pending between the Chamber of Commerce and the Commercial Exchange relative to the purchase of the building on the east side of Second, north of Walnut Street, and which has been occupied for some time by the latter body. If offers just made be accepted the structure will at once pass into ownership of the Commercial Exchange and will be re-modeled considerably on interior, placing elevators and electric work as well as sub-dividing offices and making it all that can be desired for a public business exchange. The committee to carry out the project of purchase is as follows: President L. K. Passmore, Walter F. Hagar and Antonio Gans.

Mr. Chas. W. Buckholz, formerly an engineer of the Reading system, and more recently President of the Erie Railroad Company, is the President and Chief Engineer of the Quaker City Elevated Railway. On the 18th inst. he issued from his office in the Girard Building invitations to contractors for proposals for the foundations of the columns on Market Street, from Second to Thirteenth. The foundations are to be of brick and concrete, and will range in depth from 7 to 17 feet, according to the character of the ground. The columns will extend along the middle of the street in two lines, about 18 feet apart, leaving a wide driveway on each side of the structure.

Work has been commenced on the great distillery plant, recently located along the east side of the Pennsylvania Railroad, below Eddington. The syndicate owns the Price property of about 106 acres, running from the railroad to the Delaware River, and is now laying lines for building a small town in addition to its plant. A part of its scheme, it is said, is to erect 38 dwelling houses for workmen on the tract. The distillery buildings are to be quite extensive, and one of them, it is said, will have a length of 700 feet by a width of 125 feet. The business of the concern is to be the manufacture of rye whisky. We noted the project in full when the syndicate was formed and purchased the property indicated.

The corner-stone of the Caledonian Club was laid on the 21st inst. with considerable ceremony upon the site of the new hall, Thirteenth and Spring Garden Streets. Prof. James MacAlister, of the Drexel Institute, delivered the oration, after which J. D. Laws recited an original poem. The building will cost $75,000, is to be six stories high, and will be built of red brick, faced with red sandstone. The basement and first story, however, will be of granite. In the building will be a gymnasium, 73 x 36 feet, a running track, a swimming pool 60 x 20 feet, 11 feet deep, a bowling alley, a main hall and several society rooms. It is expected that the building will be finished by February next. John Ord, architect, drew the plans and will supervise the construction.

A meeting of capitalists was held at the Continental Hotel, in this city, on the 18th inst., to consider the question of erecting a plant for the manufacturers of structural iron and steel. The scope of the enterprise includes at the present time, purchase of a good site and construction of buildings to accommodate about 1000 workmen. Among those present and interested were Dr. T. R. Timby, A. J. Milliken and William F. De Vaugh. Dr. T. R. Timby declined to go into details further than to say that the preliminary arrangements for the erection of the plant had been partially made at the meeting. The plant, he said, would cost between three and five million dollars, with an output in wages alone of $15,000 weekly. In concluding Dr. Timby said: "After a careful investigation into the propositions made by the various cities we have come to the conclusion that Philadelphia is the most suitable for our purposes as her water facilities in combination with other features can not be surpassed.

Ground will be broken at Torresdale shortly for a stone and frame dwelling for J. Hampton Moore, Real Estate Editor of the Public Ledger. The building will be a handsome one, from plans very much like those of the new moderate-priced and popular Colonial houses at Wayne and St. David's. It will be built at the top of a rising tract of four acres of land recently secured from Select Councilman Edward Morrell, southwest of Convent Lane and Stevenson Road, near the station, and adjoining Henry V. Massey's land. This is practically the first step towards changing Torresdale from a Summer resort to a permanent residence place for people having business in the city, and Mr. Moore's, it is understood, will be followed either this Winter or in the Spring by several others for all-the-year residents. Among those who have bought small tracts in this locality in the last few days are Senator Charles A. Porter and Select Councilman McMurray, of the Twenty-eighth Ward. The basis of these movements is within easy rifle shot of the Morelton Inn improvements, steamboat landing and the Pennsylvania Railroad Station, in the upper end of the Thirty-fifth Ward.

A Few Quiet Words with House Builders and Owners.

If the kitchen of your house is small, you need to economize room. You can do this by using a range with elevated boiler, such as the

"FIDELITY."

It will reduce the cost of plumbing also. We make them with seven inch or eight inch boiler holes, ovens on right or left of fire, with or without hot closets, and also to heat an upper room. Splendid bakers. Hot water in abundance. The latest and best of their class.

Excelsior Double Oven Range.

If the kitchen is roomy and large, cooking capacity is sought. You will want a brick-set range with a vertical circulating boiler, set in the usual way. The

are acknowledged all over Philadelphia, in which city and vicinity some 75,000 have been sold as the standard brick-set range. They are furnished with ventilated ovens, oven-door pedals, rocking grates, and all modern improvements. Made in seven and eight inch sizes; single, double and hot-air ranges. Send for descriptive pamphlet, entitled "PERFECT COOKING."

We are advertising at present a $16.50 Suit, Cutaway one of the shapes, the other, an easy Sack.

The Material.—Clay Diagonal Worsted. It will prove its goodness in its staying power—in its long wear.

We have made 1000 Suits to begin with. You know what a difference in price between building 400 houses and 4. It's the same in making 1000 suits, else we wouldn't sell it for $16.50.

Architect Notes.

T. Roney Williamson, architect, 138 South Fourth Street, has made plans for alterations to house of Mr. Wm. Bement, at Chestnut Hill. This will consist of a new kitchen, dining-room, and other minor work, etc.

W. Bleyden Powell, architect, 423 Walnut Street, has made plans for a very fine stone stable, with slate roof, to be erected at "The Needles," Ashbourne, N. P. R. R., for William L. Elkins. The interior will be furnished with all modern improvements, including electric work, plumbing, artificial floors, heating, a carriage lift, closets, quarters for coachman and a 60,000 gallon tank for water; also, a windmill for pumping. Considerable iron work will be used. Plans are now on boards for estimates.

Furness Evans & Co., architects, 209 South Third Street, have placed complete plans on boards for estimates on construction of a dwelling for Lucien Moss, Esq., at 267 South Twenty-first Street, in this city. The material to be used will be Conshohocken stone and brick chiefly, roof to be of red slate on portions and copper and tin work will also be used. The interior will have electric work, speaking tubes, best plumbing and gas fitting, open grates and much tile work, fancy mantels of wood and stone, the kitchen to have good range and drainage connections and all the most modern improvements.

Angus S. Wade, architect, Rooms 46-47 Hale Building, corner of Juniper and Chestnut Streets, has made complete plans for five fine houses to be erected at Wyncote, Pa., for Wm. E. Weber, of The Charles E. Johnston & Co. Printing Ink Manufacturers. These are to be of stone and frame construction; also, some brick work, and will be fitted for steam heat, electric bells and light, hard wood finish on interior, and best sanitary work in the matter of plumbing, and will be erected under the supervision of Mr. Wade. Mr. Wade reports all his private and public work making good progress, as the weather has been all that could be desired. Among the most noted structures under way may be mentioned the Hotel Metropole and the Masonic Temple, of Camden, N. J., the latter beginning to assume massive proportions and will soon under roof.

As indicated by us in this journal on October 19th, the plans for the proposed new building to be erected at Broad and Market Streets by the Third National Bank, are being completed in detail after some modification. If erected it will likely be eleven stories high, and the material will be the same as described in our last issue.

The plans are being prepared under the supervision of the well-known architect, Mr. James H. Windrim. The same architect also made plans some time since for the new Jefferson College and Hospital buildings, and space is now being cleared on South Broad Street preparatory to the commencement of building operations. That portion of the site bounded by Broad, Rosewood, Christian and Catharine Streets is now clear, with the exception of two small brick buildings, while what is owned above Catharine is still occupied by buildings, with the exception of a small piece of ground at the corner of Broad Street. South Broad Street has recently been greatly improved by the erection of fine structures which have taken the place of dilapidated buildings, and this new work will be a great addition thereto, for, when completed, it will be one of the most imposing, both in size and architectural effect. A glance at the dimensions of the site to be used is sufficient to indicate the importance of the operation. From Christian to Catharine Streets is a little more than 225 feet, while the properties above Catharine cover 200 feet, thus making a total of about 425. From Broad Street to Rosewood, below Catharine, is 170 feet, while above Catharine it is only 150 feet. This is owing to Rosewood Street not running in a direct line. Thus the site is about 425 feet long by 170 and 120 feet deep.

Architect Notes.

Otto C. Wolf, architect and engineer, 1345 Arch Street, is at work upon plans for a one-story bottling plant to be erected at Sixth and Callowhill Streets for the Joseph Schultz, Brewing Co., of Milwaukee, Wis.

All the plans for the Friends' Insane Asylum in the Thirty-fifth Ward, have been completed by the architects, Messrs. Cope and Stewardson, 324 Walnut Street, and work upon the construction will begin in a few days. These structures are intended for very violent cases. One will be one story high, 60 x 48 feet, and the other two stories, 72 x 34 feet. The interior will be supplied with rooms for matrons and nurses as well as patients, dining-room, linen-room. We have noted these drawings in architectural notes some time ago in full.

Edwin F. Bertollette, architect, Sibley Building, 1218 Filbert Street, has made plans for a fine row of dwelling houses to be built by W. Ritter, builder, of Norristown, Pa, at an early day in the northeastern part of the city. These will be constructed in pairs, with handsome corner bays and porches, slate and tin roofs, with all modern conveniences on interior. Also, plans prepared by same architect for considerable amount of interior work to be put in the Richmond Varnish Manufactory, at Memphis and Westmoreland Streets. Also, plans for an addition to Colonnade Hotel, at Pottstown, Pa. These will consist of a bar-room, barber shop, cafe, toilet-rooms, bath-rooms, as well as additional sleeping apartments. The material used for exterior work will be press brick, with marble trimmings, and tin roofs. Mr. Bertollette is quite busy on other plans, which are not sufficiently advanced to note at this time.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

William T. Bailey, of Camden, is to build a five-story storage house, 40 by 100 feet, at Delaware Avenue and Cooper Street, in that city. The permit has been issued.

Stewart Bros, contractors, 2527 North Fifth Street, are to erect five dividing walls in the Heller store at the northeast corner of Eighth and Arch Streets. Work to be started at once.

The damage by fire on the 26th inst. to the factory of D. & R. Wood, 3017 Edgemont Street, will at once be repaired as well as the surrounding property, which was injured to some extent at the time.

A new Presbyterian church has been organized on Pulaski Street, Germantown, and will be known as the Pulaskiville Presbyterian Church. It is likely the congregation will at an early day consider the erection of a place of worship.

John Whelen, builder, is to start at once nineteen two-story houses on Whelen and Tioga Street in the Thirty-third Ward, all to be of press brick, stone trimmings and best interior accommodations; also nine of the same description on Tioga, west of Philip Street.

Contractor McManus is building a two-story 26 by 40 feet annex to the George H. Boker School, Twenty-second and Ontario Streets. The addition is on the northeast corner of the school, and will be of dressed brown stone and pressed brick laid in red mortar with brown stone trimmings.

James H. Stevenson & Sons, builders, Thirtieth and Ridge Avenue, are about to start a new operation of twenty-seven two-story brick dwellings on Ridge Avenue above Twenty-second Street. These are to be of the usual class in material and workmanship as others adjoining and in that vicinity.

Brennan & Bro., bricklayers and builders, 1623 South Seventeenth Street, have secured the contract for the brick work on the new four-story warehouse building now in course of erection at Twenty-fourth and Vine Streets for the Nixon Paper Co. J. W. Fritzinger, builder, is the principal contractor.

Charles O'Neill, contractor, is building a three-story 24 by 40 feet annex to the Glenwood Combined School, Thirtieth and Herman Streets. The addition is to the southwest corner of the school, and will be of the same material as used in the George H. Boker School annex. Both will be roofed in before winter.

J. H. Virkler, builder and owner, 1098 Belmont Avenue, will at once begin the erection of eight fine three-story dwellings, 16x54 feet, on Holly Street, west side, south of Pennsgrove; and others on the latter street, east of Forty-second, all to be of best material, workmanship, and interiors to have modern conveniences.

After the completion of the morocco manufactory of Robert H. Foerderer at Wheat Sheaf Lane and Frankford Avenue, the firm will erect about one hundred houses for accommodation of the men engaged in the establishment and their families, all furnished with good modern conveniences. This operation was fully noted in a former number.

The Jessup Moore Paper Company has been granted permission by the Board of Health to erect their proposed disinfecting plant, as noted in our last issue, if Little Tinicum Island can be leased for the purpose. The Board believe that no room can be given at the Lazaretto Station as they are now much cramped for proper facilities in the way of ground.

The application of the Quaker City Elevated Railroad for permission to begin work upon the structure has been granted and will start on Forty-fourth Street at Columbia Avenue thence to Jefferson Street, after which permits will be considered for other portions of the road. It seems now to be a foregone conclusion that the road will be pushed to completion.

New elevators are to be put in the City Hall during November, and the Building Commissioners have recently been inspecting a number of systems using electricity as the power. No decision has been reached yet, but it is probable that electricity will be used. At present there are five elevators for use by the public, and this number has been found to be far from sufficient. Whatever power is used additional elevators will be put in.

The announcement is made that B. F. Keith, proprietor of the Bijou, on Eighth Street, above Race, has secured adjoining property, which will enable him to greatly enlarge the size of the theatre, both in the matter of seating and standing room. Plans for extensive alterations are now being considered, and they are intended, it is said, to add nearly 1000 seats to the auditorium, thus making the Bijou one of the largest amusement places in the city.

The Trustees of the Protestant Episcopal Church have taken title from the Rev. G. Woolsey Hodge, D. D., and others, executors of Susanna M. Johnson's estate, to the large old residence, No. 221 South Broad Street, for $60,000. The lot on which the building stands is 33 by 130 feet. The purchase was made to secure a diocesan house for the use of the church officials. It was at first proposed to erect this building in the midst of the improvements on Locust street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth, but the Broad Street site was afterwards chosen and plans for the structure will now be in order.

Within the past few days the Pennsylvania Railroad has acquired title to the property at the corner of Delaware Avenue and Callowhill Street, thus completing its purchase of the entire block bounded by Vine, Callowhill and Water Streets and Delaware Avenue, where it proposes to erect a large freight station. The property just bought, which stands just where it is proposed to have tracks from the River Front Railroad enter the new station, cost the company $42,000, and for the entire block it has paid not far from $700,000. The new station, for which the plans have already been prepared, will be similar to that at Dock Street and Delaware Avenue. We have fully noted this matter when the original purchase was made.

Negotiations for the purchase by Anthony J. Drexel of the John M. George property of 171 acres, at Overbrook, have just been closed. The transaction is one of unusual interest to the semi-suburban building world, inasmuch as the transfer carries with it the announcement that the property will at once be improved and opened up for development. The George tract is one of the highest pieces of ground around Philadelphia, being, at its highest point, about 250 feet above city datum, and has the advantage of being within the city limits. The ground is covered with fine old trees, and slopes on all sides towards the pretty streams, which will aid in securing the most perfect system of drainage. The tract is bounded in part by Fifty-eighth and Sixty-fourth Streets, Woodbine Avenue and the city line, in the Twenty-fourth Ward, and is bisected by Overbrook Avenue, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, Sixty-third and Sixty-fourth Streets and the old Lancaster Pike. The main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad runs through one section of the property.

As soon as the heavy work connected with the enlargement of the Broad Street Station is completed, the Pennsylvania Railroad will start work upon another improvement hardly less extensive. This is the widening of the elevated roadway west from Nineteenth Street to the Schuylkill, by the occupation of Filbert Street and the shifting of that thoroughfare to the north. The present elevated brick structure ends near Twenty-first Street, and from that point to the river the railroad runs on an iron structure which completely fills Filbert Street. Owing to the tremendous traffic over this part of the line, which keeps the ironwork in continual vibration, the maintenance of this portion of the elevated railway is decidedly expensive. Then again, the narrow width of Filbert Street—only 50 feet—restricts the track room and makes the road between Twenty-first Street and the river much less in width than the yard extending down to Broad Street Station. The Ninth Ward Gas Works prevent the road from taking a straight line from the station to the river.

A proposition is at present being considered by the congregation of St. Stephen's P. E. Church, on Tenth Street, and that of the Epiphany, at Fifteenth and Chestnut Streets, to unite and to erect a large and handsome cathedral upon the latter site. At the same time a proposal, it is said, will be offered the Epiphany by Grace Episcopal Church, on Twelfth Street, above Arch, to unite with them, so that the outcome of the special meeting on the 7th of November will be awaited with considerable anxiety by all parties interested. Under any circumstances Grace Church will remove from its present location on account of its close proximity to the Philadelphia and Reading Terminal road, the noise and vibration of which will prove quite annoying. The gentlemen who will consider the above question between the two first named churches are as follows: Those from the Epiphany vestry, William S. Lane, Edmund P. Dwight and Wm.

Rudolph Smith. St. Stephen's representatives, Vestrymen Crawford Arnold, Ludovic C. Cleeman and Henry C. Olmstead.

F. J. Amweg, contractor, Hale Building, Juniper and Chestnut Streets, Phila., has been awarded the contract to erect the Deaf and Dumb Home for the training in speech before they are of "school age," at Bala, Phila. This structure has been materially changed in details as to materials to be used, and will now be of red brick, shingle roof, electric bells, best culinary arrangements, and all modern conveniences. Mr. Amweg has also been awarded the contract to erect the handsome residence of Dr. McClellan at Broad and Spruce Streets, for which plans were prepared by M. Fielding, architect, 110 South Fourth Street, and who will supervise its construction. The drawings were noted in full in a previous number of this journal.

A loan of $3,500,000, with which to prosecute the work of the Survey, Highway and Water Bureau, has been decided upon as a recommendation to Councils, emanating from the sub-committee of which Councilman Thomas L. Hicks is chairman. The objects for which the money is wanted are $1,000,000 for the Water Works extension, $1,250,000 for main sewers and $1,250,000 for highway work as follows: First. In the Bureau of Water Extension of buildings, construction of boilers, erection of three 20,000,000 gallon pumping engines, with all necessary connections, giving an increased pumpage of 60,000,000 gallons per day, $405,000. Second. Extension of buildings to provide for new 15,000,000 gallon pumping engine, now under contract, $40,000; new pumping main, an absolute necessity, for the reason that all of Frankford and Bridesburg are now dependent upon one main, and that hardly large enough, $330,000. Third. For new buildings near Falls Bridge, P. and R. R. and new conduit up the east side of Schuylkill River, to begin the work of establishing a new 60,000,000 gallon pumping station for the Queen lane reservoir, $225,000. Fourth. For construction of main sewers in various sections of the city, provided that $250,000 be specially set aside for the Aramingo system, $1,250,000. Fifth. For repaving with improved pavement streets not occupied with passenger railways, with the proviso that $400,000 be specially set aside for the repaving of streets that are tramways, or that are 20 feet or less in width from curb to curb, $1,250,000. These items are "imperatively demanded," say the committee, "by the absolute and immediate needs of the city if we hope to be able to meet the requirements of the health and safety of our people." The committee also recommended that a loan be authorized for extensions at the Twenty-fifth Ward Gas Works, to include the purchase by the city of the water gas plant now erected and in use at that place, $500,000; and for the construction of a subway along the south side of Market Street, from the Delaware River westward, to provide for sewage, gas, water, steam, electrical, municipal and other purposes, $500,000. The report was made a special order for the next meeting of the committee.

If the kitchen of your house is small, you need to economize room. You can do this by using a range with elevated boiler, such as the

"FIDELITY."

It will reduce the cost of plumbing also. We make them with seven inch or eight inch boiler holes, ovens on right or left of fire, with or without hot closets, and also to heat an upper room. Splendid bakers. Hot water in abundance. The latest and best of their class.

Excelsior Double Oven Range.

Whether large or small, your house will require a heating apparatus of some kind. It will pay you to put in a really good hot air furnace. The

has no superior. Perfectly self-cleaning, with fewest joints, free from dust and gas, largest radiating surface, heavy steel plate, drum casings, easy on fuel, and of superior durability, it will always give satisfaction. A descriptive circular will be mailed upon application.

FIDELITY HOT AIR RANGE WITH HORIZONTAL BOILER.

If the kitchen is roomy and large, cooking capacity is sought. You will want a brick-set range with a vertical circulating boiler, set in the usual way. The

are acknowledged all over Philadelphia in which city and vicinity some 75,000 have been sold as the standard brick-set range. They are furnished with ventilated ovens, oven-door pedals, rocking grates, and all modern improvements. Made in seven and eight inch sizes; single, double and hot-air ranges. Send for descriptive pamphlet, entitled "PERFECT COOKING."

We are advertising at present a $16.50 Suit, Cutaway one of the shapes, the other, an easy Sack.

The Material.—Clay Diagonal Worsted. It will prove its goodness in its staying power—in its long wear.

We have made 1000 Suits to begin with. You know what a difference in price between building 400 houses and 4. It's the same in making 1000 suits, else we wouldn't sell it for $16.50.

A WORD ABOUT HOUSE FURNITURE AND FURNISHINGS.

As men grow richer and greater in the business and social world, their tastes and ideas of home surroundings undergo a radical change.

The plain old fashioned furniture of the commencement days of house keeping cease to be in harmony with the intellectual, social and financial growth and sympathies of successful business men, like the cast off short frocks of the girls, the furniture becomes outgrown and the worse for wear and must soon be succeeded by brighter and prettier home comforts, not a whit less useful and wearful and not even a trifle costlier.

To you gentlemen who appreciate the necessity for home furniture betterments we extend a cordial invitation to visit one of the best equipped Fine Furniture Establishments in the United States, containing a large stock of rare excellence and beauty, for Parlor, Drawing Room, Chambers, Dining Room, Sitting Room and Library, arranged with the view of expressing about the same general appearance each article will present after being placed in your house.

Our unique display of the very choicest groupings in artistic furniture and hangings greatly facilitates the selections of our customers. The idea is entirely original with us and has found many imitators who, however, fail in both taste, originality and quality of the goods offered for sale.

We have always a wide open welcome for business men who will find a few stolen moments from urgent duties to visit our Warerooms, not only a profitable and healthful relaxation from business cares, but a bright and pleasant object lesson as to the latest and best ideas in home comforts.

The cost of these beautiful goods is much less than you suppose, thanks to the wonderful skill and enterprise of our American Furniture Manufacturers, in fact the richest and most elegant pieces in our whole establishment do not cost today as much by half as the cumbersome and ungainly article of the same character purchased fifty years ago. The significance of this statement will be better appreciated after you have realized how cheaply you can refurnish your whole house from garret to cellar without even a single interruption in the daily routine of your own life, not a meal, nor a single night's sleep will be lost by any member of your family through any fault of our own or that of our workmen. This we guarantee.

 We also invite special attention to our large assortment of Office Desks and Chairs. Designs furnished for interior office work, etc.

We now offer for rent safe deposit boxes in our new burglar-proof vaults, at prices ranging from three to sixty dollars per annum. We will be pleased to have you call and examine them.

STONE, Bricks and Lumber are not the only Building materials, nor are stone masons and carpenters the only Builders. We use cloth and build the most beautiful structures in the shape of Coats, Vests and Trousers you are ever likely to see; we take the same care to get them plumb as the builders do; we have building inspectors, whom we call examiners, who are ready and competent to condemn any faulty part, and they are more vigilant than some other inspectors, and when the garments are complete, they excite the same admiration that the New Reading Terminal, directly opposite us, does. The prices of these garments are manufacturers' cost, with a small added profit.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, NOV. 9, 1892.

OUR report this year possesses information of more than the average interest, not only to operative builders, but to each and every citizen of the community who is not disposed to believe that Philadelphia's place in the procession is at the tail end. If our citizens possessed the same keen appetite for popularity that characterizes those of Chicago and New York, much that is said against Philadelphia in the way of contempt and derision would be left unsaid, for it is a maxim as old as civilization itself that he who would command respect must first respect himself. Why Philadelphians are willing to permit either the enterprises of their fellow citizens questioned in their presence, or the commercial and manufacturing importance of their city disputed without an emphatic and unequivocal protest, is an enigma, to say the least.

There is perhaps no city on the continent that represents so much growth and development as shown by our tables in this issue for the ten months of the present year, and there is certainly no city in the world where the same care is exercised in the construction of homes; homes of a character that elevate the humble classes above the brutish instincts and the debasing surroundings of the poor of European cities, besides which homes that are available in a sense of ownership, requiring little capital besides industry and decency.

It is with regret that we chronicle the sudden death of Mr. O. C. Briggs, the able assistant to General Passenger Agent C. G. Hancock, of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad. Mr. Briggs remained at his desk, filling ably the duties of his position, until Wednesday afternoon, the 2d inst., and was suddenly stricken with heart failure at his home while preparing to make a friendly call that evening and died in a few minutes after the attack. After graduating from the Central High School Mr. Briggs entered the employ of the Reading Railroad Company in 1883 as a clerk in the freight department at Broad and Callowhill Streets. He filled so acceptably each position of trust to which he was appointed that his final promotion as assistant to the general passenger agent was well earned. His death was a great shock to his fellow employees, by whom he was held in warm regard. He leaves a widow and an adopted son.

Architect Notes.

Bailey & Truscott, architects, 136 South Fourth Street, are engaged in preparation of plans for a frame cottage at Holly Beach, N. J., for John Reese, ship chandler, of this city. The structure will be two-and-one-half stories high and furnished with good modern conveniences.

Albert W. Dilks, architect, 1001 Chestnut Street, has prepared plans for a fine country residence and stable for Mr. E. L. Harrington, to be erected on Upsal Street, Germantown. The house will be three stories high, of local stone, with a slate roof. A handsome porch and portecochere will ornament the exterior, while the interior will be a model of comfort, fitted in hard wood, mantels of same, open grates, with tiled hearths, fronts and sides, electric work, the best of sanitary plumbing and every modern convenience. The stable will be also of local stone, two stories high, with a large central driveway, arched and ornamented. Will also contain a large room for carriages, coachman's quarters, well-fitted stall and all appliances for general utility and comfort of animals. Mr. Dilks is also completing plans for two additional stories to the Yates' stores, at Thirteenth and Chestnut Streets, for Mr. Charles Dissel, owner.

Walter H. Geissinger, architect and mill engineer, southwest corner of Twelfth and Chestnut Streets, has completed plans for the erection of a syrup refinery for John Wiseman and T. F. Wallace, comprising the firm of Wiseman & McGill, 125 South Front Street. The drawings contemplate a structure, 73 x 170 feet, on Front Street, above Poplar, and extending to Canal Street. The building will be of what is known as slow-burning construction. The floors will bear a weight of 400 pounds to the square foot. The engine and boiler will be in the basement, and will be of 100 horse power. The contract will be awarded about the 10th inst., and Mr. Geissinger will supervise the work until completed. Mr. Geissinger has also prepared plans for the erection of an extensive addition to the plant of Thomas Devlin & Co., at northeast corner of Third Street and Lehigh Avenue. It will be 44 x 121 feet and seven stories high. The interior will be fitted with steam power and machinery, elevators, electric work, automatic fire sprinklers; also a water tank of 6000 gallons capacity. The interior will be of the slow-burning system of construction, and contains all modern improvements.

THE CLOSE OF THE BUILDING SEASON OF 1892.

REGULAR ANNUAL REPORT OF PHILADELPHIA'S
BUILDING OPERATIONS
AND
FROM
JANUARY 1 TO OCTOBER, 31, INCLUSIVE.
IMPORTANT STATISTICS CAREFULLY
COMPILED BY
THE PHILADELPHIA REAL ESTATE RECORD AND BUILDERS' GUIDE.

6993 New Buildings erected and in course of erection at an estimated cost of $26,652,496, exclusive of the cost of the ground.

2356 Alterations and Additions costing $4,712,000.

An increase over the same months of 1891 of 906 new buildings, and representing an increase in expenditure over last year of $4,588,886.

324 more Alterations and Additions than last year, representing an increase in expenditure of $1,664,000.

Grand total of expenditure of $31,364,496.

As an analytical proposition the following tables should be sufficiently specific for all purposes. To be compelled to express opinions as to the future in face of the many events that are possible, if not probable, is assuming responsibilities greater than are generally allotted to the average statistician. As we recall our predictions made during the last six years, often in the face of difficulties overwhelmingly great, we now feel fully justified in our endeavor to be strictly conservative in our estimates, preferring to be within a shade of the true line rather than indulge in the slightest exaggeration. The time has been when the man who knows everything dreadful was so abundant that it required the full courage of our convictions to assert them boldly and to face criticism, but we have outlived our timidity just as the success and prosperity of the building interest have survived the lamentations and lamentable predictions of the wiseacres.

That customers are absorbing the houses that are being built to a reasonable as well as a healthy degree no man can deny, for while sales may be several, scales below the pitch desired to make a veritable "boom" in real estate, yet 10,891 transfers this year against 11,878, a falling off in numbers of 987 met by an increase in the purchasing value of the property sold this year amounting to $2,787,122.87 is sufficiently encouraging to justify a moderate amount of building for some time to come. It must also be remembered that notwithstanding the fact that while the purchasing value of the properties sold during 1890 (in its entirety) was nearly two and a half millions greater than any year before or since, yet the transfers for the ten months of that year amounted to but 12,769, representing a value of $65,202,736.39, or only $1,000,255.04 more than the present year, while at the same time the transfers of properties purchased for Reading Terminal purposes were mainly made prior to the advent of 1892, and do not materially influence this conclusion.

The fact is, better prices prevail for new houses, while there is no doubt that in many instances old dwellings have been sold at less than their true value for no other reason than that their owners desired newer and fresher neighborhoods, which change in sentiment has helped to swell the number of alterations and additions, as well as to increase the amount expended for such purposes during the present year.

As nearly as can be judged there is no change in the conditions of things except those arising from the drawing away from our late financial disturbances caused by rotten banks and rascally bankers and a better condition of business generally as a natural sequence of our heavy grain exports.

It is generally held in real estate circles that few dwelling houses are purchased for investment only, the cause being the very fair interest mortgage loans command.

Industrial buildings this year show better in numbers than last, and while there has been a loss in a few instances, the general increase is indicative of continued prosperity, the number in most instances being in excess of 1890, as the following table will show:

	1890	1891	1892
Warehouses . . . . .	29	23	34
Dye and dryhouses . . . . .	10	9	13
Factories and mills . . . . .	73	57	81
Engine and boiler . . . . .	27	24	36
Breweries and bottling . . . . .	7	7	3
Foundries and shops . . . . .	39	60	52
Stores (not dwellings) . . . . .	53	40	31

It is but natural that the issues presented in the present contest for the Presidency should have influenced the erection of this class of buildings, for while the number is greater than for the same months of 1890 and 1891, it is conclusive that there would have been more of them if the issue had not been so pronounced.

We have two school houses less than last year, nine less stables and four more churches.

Two-story dwellings show an increase of 569 and three-story 344 over 1891, the heavy gains being in the First, Fifteenth, Eighteenth, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth wards.

West Philadelphia shows a gain of 28 in the Twenty-seventh and 100 in the Thirty-fourth, while the Twenty-fourth falls short 46 from last year. The Twentieth ward loses 40, Twenty-third 50, Twenty-ninth 44 and the Thirty-second 82.

The most notable gains in three-story dwellings is the Twenty-eighth, 242; Twenty-seventh, 100; First, 40; Thirty-third, 30; Twenty-second, 30; Twenty-fourth, 25; and the Fifteenth 23, while the Twenty-ninth loses 72, Thirty-second 23 and the Twenty-sixth 15. The total gain in three-story dwellings is 344.

An important feature this year in the total investment is the serious loss in office buildings over two stories. Last year there were six, but their cost was $1,390,000 against $488,173, the cost of the 10 erected this year. Miscellaneous buildings play an important part in swelling the total, as their cost this year is $5,331,000 against $2,430,825 last year. This increase in cost is accounted for by the amount expended on the terminals of the Reading and also of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the operations of the Reading including a train shed at $700,000, a storage house at $150,000 and station at $1,250,000, and those of the Pennsylvania a train shed at $1,000,000 besides other improvements.

The 10,891 transfers, representing $64,202,481.36, bear a mortgage incumbrance of 21 per cent., and the ground rent incumbrance of $540,960.22 on a six per cent. basis represents a principal of $9,016,003.66.

The money value of the properties sold at auction this year is $211,867.44 in excess of last year. From figures furnished us by Davis & Harvey we are inclined to believe that the most of this excess is accounted for in the substantial increase of their business, as this firm's system of No Charge under any circumstances unless a sale is effected, is not only popular with real estate men generally, but it has proved to be an incentive to owners who desired to sell to place their properties in Davis & Harvey's hands for trial, while the brokers would have been powerless in prevailing upon them to do so were costs involved in the experiment. The mortgage incumbrance on the properties sold at auction amounts to about seven per cent.

The influence of the untiring efforts of the Trades League in behalf of the city's business interests is already making itself felt in many ways. Through the stop-over privileges thousands of strangers have come and gone during the last ten months who, prior to their coming, had some doubts of the existence of such a city as Philadelphia, but who were not only agreeably disappointed in everything they saw, but were seriously impressed with the superiority of our dwelling house system.

This influence, if continued, must soon express itself in strangers coming among us for real estate investments as well as business purposes, and it is an enigma why real estate men and builders are not in closer touch and more earnest sympathy with the members of this organization, which is so earnestly working for the welfare of every citizen. We refer the reader to the following tables for more specific information than can be given in this article:

The eighty miscellaneous buildings include a filtering house at $80,000; Nurses Home, $40,000; Saenger Kranz Club, $70,000; Reading Terminal train shed, $700,000; Reading Terminal storage house, $150,000; College of Pharmacy, $65,000; prison wing, $110,000; hotel, $75,000; Reading station, $1,250,000; Parochial school of the Sacred Heart, $50,000; chapel and school of Saint Veronica, $12,000; Reading Railroad shops, $40,000; dog hospital, $10,000; hospital, $27,000; conservatory, $45,000; Times Annex, $65,000; freight depot of P. Architect Notes.

Horace W. Castor, architect, 4627 Penn Street, Frankford, has prepared plans for a business building in which a number of halls and society rooms will be located, and to be built for Carson & Swope, of the same place. The structure will be three stories high, of brick, with stone trimmings, and possess all modern conveniences. Cost about $20,000. The same architect is making plans for a fine dwelling and stable for Dr. John B. Allen, of Frankford.

S. Hall Day & Crawford Coates, Jr., architects, 910 Drexel Building, are engaged in preparation of plans for extensive alterations and additions to 1516 North Fifteenth Street for Conrad B. Day. These will consist of a back building, with a kitchen, conservatory, play room, new decoration to interior; also considerable plumbing, etc. Also plans for alteration to 1008 South Fourth Street for S. Greenburg. The structure will be altered into an apartment house, with best conveniences.

The work of demolition of the old buildings in rear of the Hale Building, at Juniper and Sansom Streets, is being pushed with vigor by Benjamin Ketcham & Sons, contractors, 1029 Brown Street, after which the new addition heretofore noted will be started. Willis G. Hale, architect, 1524-26 Chestnut Street, prepared these plans more than a year ago for the owner, William Weightman, who has only now succeeded in getting control because of expiration of leases. The new addition will be in architectural keeping with the main building, and will be fitted with all the advantages of the front on Chestnut Street. Elevator, electric work and best of sanitary plumbing, etc.

Thomas P. Lonsdale, architect, Manhattan Life Building, Fourth and Walnut Streets, has been engaged to prepare plans for a fine large building at Reading, Pa., to be erected for the Young Men's Christian Association of that city. The structure will be four stories high. The material for the walls to be stone and buff brick, and will have two fronts, with entrance from two streets. On the first floor will be placed a fine large store, running half way back, and in the rear will be placed a gymnasium and pool for swimming. On the second floor will be placed a large auditorium, and the third and fourth fitted up for society, committee and general purposes in connection with Christian Association work. The whole structure will be heated by steam, and have electric work as well as all modern conveniences. It will contain a large library and a reading room, and will likely have an elevator placed for passengers and small freight lift possibly. After the plans prepared by the same architect a new hotel is about to be erected by John F. Rothaker, at Thirtieth and Ludlow Streets, West Philadelphia, and which we have fully noted in a previous issue. It will be a five-story structure, 23 x 56 feet, and will contain on interior all modern conveniences.

Hazelhurst & Huckel, architects, Drexel Building, have made plans for a country house and stable for Robert W. Martin, Esq., at Radnor, Pa. The house will be of local stone, three stories and basement, with copper roof. The interior in hard woods, tile work, electric work, best of sanitary plumbing, etc. Stable will be of local stone, shingle roof, two stories high, and contain quarters for coachman, carriage room and five stalls for horses, with all modern appliances and conveniences. Same architects have also made plans for a fine house at Fox Chase for Mr.

Williams. To be of stone and shingle work, and fitted on interior with all modern improvements, including electric bells and best plumbing, hard wood finish, etc. Also plans for alteration and addition to a house at Ashbourne, Pa. To be brick, rough cast and colonial in style. All conveniences will be introduced on interior. Also plans for remodeling house of Mr. George M. Taylor, at Leiper and Orthodox Streets, Frankford. Work started. Bids will be opened during the week for work upon the I. O. O. F. Orphanage, and the contract awarded lowest and best bidder. Also for the parochial house of the Church of Our Saviour, Broadway and Viola Street, Camden, N. J., which will be announced at an early day.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

B. F. Sturtevant & Co. have purchased the property No. 135 North Third Street, in which they will have extensively fitted up show rooms for their steam fans, forges, engines, etc.

Maurice L. Peterman, 873 Brooklyn Street, will commence eight new dwellings, three stories high, on Forty-third Street, south of Ogden. All to be of press brick, stone trimmings and best modern accommodations.

W. T. B. Roberts, builder, Twenty-ninth and Thompson Streets, will build sixty-six houses on Woodstock Street, north of Dauphin, all to be of best material, press brick, stone facings and good modern accommodations.

William Bunch, Jr., builder, 422 North Forty-first Street, will put up an operation of fine houses on Forty-ninth Street, south of Aspen. They will be 15x24 feet with back buildings, and will have all modern conveniences.

William R. Brown, builder, will erect about one hundred homes in the northwestern part of the city in the spring. Mr. Brown has been quite successful in operations about Tioga, Westmoreland and Sixteenth Streets.

The George W. Blabon Company, manufacturers of oilcloths, will at once erect a three-story factory, 70x80 feet, on the north side of the Reading Railroad at Nicetown, and which will be an addition to their present plant.

Contractors Covode & Malone have commenced work on the double track branch railroad, one mile in length, which will extend from the Germantown and Chestnut Hill branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad to the Midvale Steel Works, at Nicetown.

At Manayunk, H. B. Lukens, 4376 Main Street, has sold a large lot 225x110 feet on Magnet Street for $5000 to Wright & Dager, who will improve the same by the erection of a number of dwellings. The same firm has a number of large operations under way.

Owners of buildings on the new Mint site on Walnut Street, between Sixth and Seventh Streets, are being officially notified that the properties will be condemned as soon as possible. They are requested to name the minimum prices asked for transfer of the deeds.

William Yelland, contractor, 4269 Penn Street, Frankford, is about to start seven pairs of two-story brick cottages on Franklin, Green and Edward Streets, and each to be of brick and stone with good modern conveniences, underground drainage, improved pavement, etc.

Harry Weekey, builder, 1047 Belmont Avenue, will at once begin the erection of forty-two two-story houses in the Twenty-fifth Ward, east and west side of Neff Street, north side of Gaul and south side of Chatham Streets, all to be of good material and modern conveniences.

Edward Wolf, of Wolf & Co., printers, Arch above Sixth, has taken title to a lot of ground on Broad above Master Street and proposes to erect a fine residence at an early day. As yet Mr. Wolf has not had any plans prepared, but indicates his purpose to build a structure in keeping with the best in the neighborhood.

Alexander Kerr & Son, salt importers and dealers, have bought wharves 31-32 at Beach and Green Streets, Delaware River, and will make such alteration and addition as will put them in much the same condition as the property they are about to vacate below Race Street. This must be done at once as their removal will be made prior to January 1, 1893.

The Second Regiment Armory fund is growing so rapidly that it is hoped that work on the new Armory on North Broad Street, near Diamond, will begin early in the winter. The plans for the building on the 300-foot lot will be drawn according to the total of subscriptions. It will not, in any event, cost less than $75,000, and $27,000 has been collected up to date. In a week or so a meeting to call public attention to the project will be held.

Commissioner of City Property Eisenhower and the members of the Councils Committee on City Property visited, during the last week, a number of the station houses located in the Fifth, Twentieth, Seventh, Twenty-fourth and Twenty-sixth districts, and after a close inspection of all the above. The visitors were of the opinion that in order to put these stations in proper and comfortable order, the Commissioner ought to ask an appropriation of about $50,000, and the request will be endorsed by the Committee.

Negotiations are pending for the purchase of the small block of ground on Cherry Street, north side, above Tenth, and beginning at the small street on the east and extending west and rear to two equally small ones ending on Cherry Street with the Baptist Church. The purchase is presumed to be in the interest of the Adams Express Company for stables, as it is well known that a removal from their present location, Eighteenth and Filbert, will shortly take place in order to give possession to the Pennsylvania Railroad for extension of their track system.

A permit has been issued to Samuel Hart & Son to build the new annex to the Fidelity Insurance, Trust and Safe Deposit Company's building, on the east side of Fourth Street, north of Chestnut. The old buildings which stood on the site have been demolished and the excavations for the new structure made. There are to be two buildings in the addition—one 68x40 feet, for depositors' rooms, and the other 24x46 feet, for the vault. Stone, brick and iron are to be used, and the total cost, it is said, may run up to $200,000. The height of the new structure is to be two stories. It will be remembered the plans for this structure were drawn by G. W. & W. D. Hewitt, architects, Bullitt Building, and who will supervise construction. A full description of the drawings were given some months since in this journal.

An appropriation of half a million dollars for the first subway in Philadelphia has been recommended by Councils' Survey Committee, and this sum will provide for the work on one side of the street from Delaware Avenue to Broad Street. In this subway will be placed, as in the famous Paris subway, all sewers, water and gas pipes and electric wires. As a rule Council largely increased the amount asked for several items and swelled the total from $2,168,220 to $2,917,840. The amount asked for main sewers was increased from $600,000 to $1,000,000, for the Aramingo Canal system from $150,000 to $250,000 and for branch sewers, inlets and man-holes from $250,000 to $350,000. Items asking $300,000 for new bridges and $150,000 for the bridge over Schuylkill at the Falls were allowed without question.

The plan for the readjustment of the wharves along the Delaware River front, submitted by Professor L. M. Haupt to the Harbor Commissioners, and referred by them to their consulting engineer, Major C. W. Raymond, was yesterday unfavorably reported upon by the latter. Professor Haupt's plan contemplated placing the wharves at an angle of 45 degrees with the bulk-head, heading down stream, and providing for a further widening of Delaware Avenue about 50 feet beyond the bulk-head line already established. Major Raymond pronounced the plan impracticable, first, because the proposed arrangement of the piers would prove a great inconvenience in the handling of vessels to and from the docks on flood tide; second, because of the great interference with the right of riparian ownership, and third, it provides for a readjustment of a bulk-head line that has already been established by law.

As soon as the work now in progress on the old Philadelphia National Bank front is finished and the bank office removed to that part of the building, the rear will be torn down and a new five-story structure erected for office purposes with a large corridor running through to what is known as Ranstead Place, this being but a continuation of what has been started on the Chestnut Street front. The corridors will have marble floors and tile wainscoting, and the main corridor on the first floor will be made a passageway for the convenience of people passing to and from Chestnut Street and the Bourse. This, when the Bourse's arcade from 420 and 422 Market Street is completed, will afford entrances to the Bourse from both Market and Chestnut Streets. The Ranstead Place front of the new building will be of stretch-brick, and will be broken by three tiers of bay windows, commencing above the first story. On the eastern corner will be a stack extending 44 feet above the building. The main building will contain two elevators and a new iron and marble stairway. This work is being done by Stacey Reeves & Sons, contractors, and is the first practical move looking towards the Bourse construction.

Ordinances have been introduced in City Councils for a number of improvements of a public character, as follows: and a number passed finally on the 3d inst. Mr. Smithers introduced an ordinance authorizing the Mayor to enter into a contract with William Eglin, permitting him to erect one thousand combined urinals and patrol boxes with signaling attachments in the streets of the city, with certain privileges. The ordinance provides that connection shall be made free of charge with the city's water mains and sewers, and that the city shall light the structures free of charge. No structure is to be placed in front of a private residence without the consent of the owner and tenant being first obtained. Under the terms of the ordinance Mr. Eglin is to have the sole and exclusive right and privilege for fifteen years to utilize such parts of the outside and inside of the structures as shall be available for an advertising medium. At the expiration of fifteen years the structures are to be turned over to the city with all rights pertaining thereto. At least 250 structures must be in working order within a year. The bill was referred to the Committee on Police and Prisons. Mr. Walton introduced a bill to vacate a certain piece of ground at Thirty-fourth and South streets for the purpose of straightening streets and to convey the same to the University of Pennsylvania. The ground is triangular in shape and is now used as a street. It is improved and if added to the University grounds will enable the institution to erect a large building thereon. Messrs. Audenried, Roberts, Smedley and N. C. Smith presented ordinances for the repairing of Twenty-second street from Pine to Hamilton by the passenger railway companies having tracks thereon. Mr. Lamond introduced an ordinance to build a school house at Tioga and Howard streets. There were passed ordinances to lay water pipe in Winton, Newkirk, Cedar, Adeline, Wright, Fifty-seventh Cherry, Chelsea, Melrose and Fifty-eighth streets and Cemetery and Fisher's avenues, and a number of Common Council ordinances were concurred in. The ordinance authorizing the sale of the Morgue property was returned by the Mayor in compliance with a resolution of request and referred to the Committee on City Property. Ordinances were introduced and referred to appropriate committees to construct a $200,000 filtration plant at the Lardner Point pumping station with a daily capacity of 20,000,000 gallons; authorizing the Pennsylvania Railroad to construct a tunnel under Filbert street east of Sixteenth to lay pipes to inclose a coal conveyer, and an ordinance authorizing the construction of the Fairhill branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Council's Electrical Committee decided to report favorably an ordinance authorizing the Frankford Avenue Merchants' Electric Light Company to extend its wires over a large district of Kensington. The appropriation to the Electrical Bureau was taken up and a number of items added, bringing the total up to about $200,000. Among the items approved was one of $10,000 for underground service on Twenty-second street north of Montgomery avenue; another of $20,000 for a similar service on Spruce street between the Delaware River and Twenty-sixth street; one of $40,000 to complete the underground work on Market street, and one of $20,000 for underground service on Girard avenue from the Delaware River to Broad street. The Elmwood and Fairmount Park Passenger Railway Company was given permission to construct a trolley line on Fifty-second street, beginning at Lancaster avenue, south to Baltimore avenue, west to Thomas avenue, west to Fifty-eighth street, south to Elmwood avenue, west to Island road, southwest to Eastwick avenue and to Elmwood avenue. The Fairmount Park and Haddington Passenger Railway will build a line beginning at Fifty-second street and Merion avenue, south to Lansdowne avenue, west to Sixty-third street, south to Girard avenue, east to Sixty-first, north to Master street, east to Fifty-fourth street, north to Lansdowne avenue, east to Fifty-second street and north to Merion avenue.

We are advertising at present a $16.50 Suit, Cutaway one of the shapes, the other, an easy Sack.

The Material.—Clay Diagonal Worsted. It will prove its goodness in its staying power—in its long wear.

We have made 1000 Suits to begin with. You know what a difference in price between building 400 houses and 4. It's the same in making 1000 suits, else we wouldn't sell it for $16.50.

Tivoli Export Beer.

Pale Brewing.

The favorite Tivoli Export and Fine Lager Beers, so well known in Philadelphia, are brewed from the choicest malt of our own manufacture.

The reputation these Beers have gained all over the country, on account of their purity and maturity, have made them the leading Beers to-day par excellence.

Our motto is not to manufacture cheap, but the very best Beers.

We also guarantee the same free from corn or any corn preparation. None of our Beer is allowed to be put on the market until it is fully matured.

The best evidence for the above named facts are the yearly sales and increase in our business.

1889 to 1890	-	-	-	-	91,612 Bbls.
1890 to 1891	-	-	-	-	103,112 Bbls.
1891 to 1892	-	-	-	-	118,000 Bbls.

Notwithstanding the increase of 10,000 to 15,000 barrels annually, we have reached this year over 13,000 barrels increase in 5 months alone.

The above brands of Beer are now on tap at all the prominent saloons in Philadelphia and bottled for family use.

Architect Notes.

Collins & Antenreith, architects, 410 Walnut Street, have made plans for extensive alterations and additions to house of Henry C. Lea, at Twentieth and Walnut Street. The drawings have been put on boards for estimates. The above contemplate all modern conveniences.

Addison Hutton, architect, 400 Chestnut Street, has prepared full detailed plans for a new structure at the Pennsylvania Hospital, Ninth and Spruce Streets. This building will be known as a Memorial Ward, and will contain all conveniences for handling patients and the injured promptly.

Wilson Bros., engineers and architects, Drexel Building, have placed plans for station at Ninth and Spring Garden Streets, on line of the P & R. R. R. These have been noted in full in a prior issue of this journal. They are a fac simile of the station at Eighteenth Street and Sixth Avenue, elevated track, Manhattan Railway. N. Y. Materials will be chiefly stone, brick, iron and cement flooring, with good plumbing, electric work, etc.

W. S. Plack, architect, 1403 Filbert Street, has been engaged to prepare plans for a factory for the manufacture of geometric drills for the Geometric Drill Company, of this city. The structure will be of brick, three stories high, slag roof. It will be 40 x 100 feet, and fitted on interior with steam power and machinery for the purposes; also wired for electricity and general modern conveniences will be introduced. This is but the forerunner of other buildings to come.

The plans for the new building at Bala for the training of deaf mutes before they are of school age have been approved by the Board of Building Inspectors. These, it will be remembered, were prepared by Messrs. Bailey and Truscott, architects, 138 South Fourth Street, and these gentlemen have awarded the contract to Frederick J. Amweg, general contractor, Hale Building. A full description of the original and amended plans have been given in this journal in former numbers. The cost of construction will be about $10,000.

Culver & Hudson, architects, 234 West Fourth Street, Williamsport, Pa., have recently completed plans for the following buildings: Residence for Jno. M. Young, Williamsport, Pa., to have steam heat, electric work, stained and plate glass, best plumbing, etc. Brick and stone residence for J. W. Chambers, Vallamont, Pa., containing steam heat, bath-room outfit, stained and plate glass, oak and cherry finish and all modern improvements. Also, hotel for Turner Palmer, Stroudsburg, Pa., to be stone and shingle work, 34 x 64 feet, three stories and basement with spacious piazzas and fitted on interior with all modern improvements for comfort and convenience. A mission church at Eaglesmere, Pa., for the Baptist congregation. Also, a stone and shingled cottage at same place for E. A. Rowley, Esq. Alterations and additions to house for J. R. Rishel, Hughesville, Pa. The same architects have on boards for estimates plans for a handsome residence for Thomas Lundy, Williamsport, Pa.; to be three stories and basement, and built of brick with stone foundations and trimmings. Slate roof, steam heat, hard wood mantels and interior finish, open grates, tile and electric work, plate and leaded glass lavatory, bath-room, cooking and laundry fixtures, the best of plumbing and modern improvements, etc.

Lindley Johnson, architect, Girard Building, Broad and Chestnut Streets, Philadelphia, has made plans for quite a number of operations, among which are: additions to rear of 1904 South Rittenhouse Square, and for which W. Murphy is the contractor. Also three stone cottages for Mrs. E. W. McCarthy, Germantown, to be of best workmanship and material. Modern conveniences on interior. A stone country residence at Washington, D. C., for Hon. William Stewart, of Nevada, to cost $23,000, and fitted with every comfort and convenience, including electric work, best sanitary plumbing, tile work, open grates, etc. A fine hotel for the Chevy Chase, Co. near Washington, D. C., to be frame and colonial in style of architecture and every improvement for comfort introduced; cost $30,000. Also opposite this hotel will be erected from plans by the same gentleman, a "Hunting Club Building," to cost $20,000. Plans are on boards for an office building on Connecticut Avenue to cost $65,000. Also drawings for a stone and frame country residence at Nashville, Tenn., for Mr. James M. Wilcox, Jr., which will cost $14,000, and a frame cottage for J. Buchanan Lanier, President West Park Land Co., to cost $10,500. Also in preparation plans for a Casino in connection with the Hotel Brighton, at Atlantic City, N. J., to cost $32,000, the contract for which has been awarded to Daniel Knauer, to be completed by Feb. 10, 1893, and will contain 125 Summer baths, 50 Winter ones, each to be fitted with enamelled tubs, etc., also a fine swimming pool 50 x 23 feet, lined with white marble throughout, and four bowling alleys, four shuffle boards, a large public hall, an enclosed piazza on two floors, on the second floor will also be an assembly room with stage and paraphernalia, reading room, writing room, etc. Also plans for a stone stable for Sydney L. Wright, at Mt. Airy, H. H. Buzby contractor, to cost $4600. Also a stone stable for Waldo M. Claffin, of Wayne, Del. Co., Pa., W. H. Burns, contractor, cost $3900. Also plans for an addition to the Maternity Hospital for which William Murphy has the contract.

Baker and Dallett, architects, S.W. corner Fifth and Walnut Streets, are completing plans in detail for the erection of the Mercantile Club House, Broad, above Master Streets. The drawings contemplate a structure very ornamental in design, the first floor being of Indiana limestone, with a granite base, the remaining stories being of Pompeian brick, with stone ornamentation. The interior will contain a theatre, banquet hall, kitchen and all necessary accessories, together with a basement, which will be fitted with a boiler room, machinery hall, dynamos, etc. Also, a bowling alley, billiard-room, a "Kneipe," so arranged as to open into and form part of the Summer garden. The first or main floor will contain the main entrance to club-room and straight passageway to the theatre. Also, an office, cafe and a restaurant for ladies and gentlemen, hat and coat rooms. The ladies parlor will be large enough to hold exhibitions of loaned pictures and sociables. The second story will be fitted up with a Directors' room, committee room, a large library and reading-room and not less than four private dining-rooms for party dinners, etc., card, chess and toilet-rooms. The third floor will, in a measure, be a duplicate of the second in small rooms for club use, being for chess, card and dining purposes. The fourth floor will be fitted up as a gymnasium, with bath-rooms, dressing-rooms, lockers, etc., complete. It will also contain the daily club kitchen, together with a laundry, drying-rooms and a general culinary outfit. One passenger elevator and freight lift, and dumb-waiters, as well as all minor improvements, will be introduced for general comfort and convenience. An individual electric appliance will be placed of the most approved kind. Also, the best system of steam heat and ventilation. One of the most striking and happy designs worked out by the architects will be the main steps, porch and entrance to the building, being of stone, highly ornamented and imposing, the pedestals of which will be capped by six beautiful electric candelabra lights, or lamps. All the main doors will have iron grill work of unique design, and the windows of French plate and leaded glass. In a word, this model building, when complete, will be one of the striking and leading features of Philadelphia, and reflect great credit upon all concerned in its construction.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, NOV. 16, 1892.

As the new College of Pharmacy, on Tenth Street, above Cherry, approaches completion the observer is more than ever impressed with the general beauty and symmetry of design. The front at once attracts attention; the brick work above the first story being particularly noticeable. This brick, which is of various shapes and sizes, is perfect in mould and finish and was manufactured by special order by the Eastern Hydraulic Press Brick Company at its works at Winslow Junction, N. J., and whose office is in the Builders' Exchange, this city, under the management of Mr. H. E. Mack, General Manager and Treasurer of the company. The color is a soft tint of red brown, beautifully mottled, and the various sizes, shapes and tints offer unusual facilities to the architect to attain highly artistic and satisfactory results.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

Coffrode & Evans, contractors, S. W. corner of Fourth and Walnut Streets, have plans made for a large brick warehouse to be erected at Delaware Avenue and Green Street.

Michael O'Brien, 728 South Nineteenth Street, will erect twelve dwellings, two-story, on west side of Harmony, north of Reed Street, to be of press brick, stone fronts and modern improvements.

Plans are being estimated upon by contractors for the construction of a four and probably five-story building at 19 South Seventh Street. The structure will be of brick, and possess all modern conveniences.

D. H. Stroud is about to start the erection of a mill, four stories high, on Philip Street near Somerset. The building will be 41x50 feet, and will be of brick fitted with steam power and all modern conveniences.

Chas. Auchter, contractor, 1523 North Twenty-seventh Street, has started a fine hotel five stories high at Thirtieth and Ludlow Streets. This structure has been fully noted from plans by Thomas P. Lonsdale, architect.

Hugh McNeile, carpenter, Passyunk Avenue and Nineteenth Street, will build fourteen two-story houses on east side of Stewart Street above Montgomery Avenue. All to be of fine press brick, stone facings and best modern conveniences.

George Pickering, contractor, will at once begin work upon an addition to the Methodist Church on south side of Orthodox Street west of Tacony, Frankford. Structure to be frame, two-story, 25x35 feet, and will be used for Sunday School purposes.

W. F. Albrecht, contractor, 2341 North Twentieth Street, will erect at once ten three-story houses on south side of Diamond Street, west of Ridge Avenue. These are to be of brick with stone trimmings and best modern conveniences on interior.

Quigg & McLinden, contractors, 303 East Indiana Avenue, will begin at once the erection of ten two-story dwellings, 14 x 33 feet, on south side of Wishart Street, east of Kensington Avenue. All to be of good material and best conveniences.

John G. Ruff, builder, will erect seven dwellings on the north side of Chestnut Street, west from Forty-fourth. Also nine more on the west side of Forty-fourth, south of Ludlow Street. All to be of press brick, stone facings and interiors to have good modern improvements.

W. T. B. Roberts, builder, northwest corner of Twentieth and Dauphin Streets, will at once start a large operation of sixty-six houses on Lambert Street, north of Dauphin. All to be of fine press brick with high stone facings and steps. Best of modern conveniences on interior.

Chas. P. Nesbitt, contractor, 425 Locust Street, has begun operations on the construction of the new Methodist Church at Seventeenth and York Streets from plans prepared by Frank R. Watson, architect, and who will supervise the building. A full description of the structure has been given in this journal.

The opening of the Winter Circus has had to be delayed until Saturday, November 19th, on account of the incompleteness of the building, it having been found impossible to have everything finished before the date named. There yet remains to be done considerable furnishing; the upholstering of the private boxes and seats, the completion of the electric light appliances, heating, ventilating, etc.

In regard to the selection of a site for the proposed new type foundry of the McKellar, Smiths and Jordan Co., on Sansom Street, above Sixth, it is announced by a member of the firm that no location yet offered has been accepted. Many have been offered, but each seems to have had objectionable points. At an early day, however, the matter will be settled, when plans will be considered and ordered for the largest foundry in the world.

At Tacony, Philadelphia, the members of the new Episcopal Church contemplate the erection of a new parish building. A name has not yet been selected for the new church, but it is thought that that of Saint Mary's will be selected. The new parish building will be similar in design to that of the parish building of Emmanuel at Holmesburg, Philadelphia. Work is progressing on the new Wire Glass Co.'s building at Washington Avenue and Oxford Street.

The Reading Railroad Co. will erect new car and repair shops at or in the immediate neighborhood of Wayne Junction. Plans have been prepared, it is understood, for this work, and only await certain action upon the part of City Councils in declaring streets vacant which run through the site. Part of the undertaking will be to build quite a large lot of dwelling houses for the employes who will work at this station. The project is now well under way, and will likely develop into a practical shape soon.

The city authorities at the office of Commissioner of Property are considering the matter of construction of a new Morgue for this city, the old one having been disposed of, and which, for many years, has been located at Noble Street and Delaware Avenue. The coroner, Samuel Ashbridge, strongly favors the improved mode of keeping bodies from decay by use of a refrigerating room, and it is more than likely his recommendation will receive consideration when the matter is disposed of. At present no plans or contracts have been agreed upon.

The Board of Directors of the Philadelphia Bourse held a meeting on the 10th inst. and adopted a report for the past six months. This report will be submitted to the stockholders for approval. It shows that since their last meeting, May 10, a total of $419,995.35 has been paid in full for property on the site of the proposed Bourse Building, and that it is now owned free of all incumbrances. The work of tearing down the buildings which now occupy the site will be begun early in January. The report also states that of the $2,000,000 estimated as the expense of the ground and building, $1,000,000 was to be raised by the stockholders and the other was to be secured by issuing bonds, and that arrangements have been made to take this loan on favorable terms.

The trustees of the University of Pennsylvania Hospital are contemplating the erection of an extensive addition to the hospital building, which, it is estimated, will cost about $175,000. It is proposed to draft a bill for an appropriation from the State for the amount instead of resorting to asking any further private subscriptions and it is confidently expected to get the aid required from the above source so as to begin the work by next Spring. The exact plans for the structure are not yet completed, nor have any contracts or details been decided upon. The committee in charge of the project is composed of members of the Board of Trustees, of the professors and of friends of the institution. Among the members of the committee and the friends who are pushing the project are: Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, Provost William Pepper, Dr. William Goodell, Dr. Judson Daland, Dr. J. William White, Dr. Thomas J. Garrow, John Scott, Richard Wood, Walter George Smith and Thomas Dolan.

As soon as the new railroad to Frankford is constructed a number of prominent citizens who live between Frankford and Bristol will hold a meeting to devise plans for the extension of the Reading Railroad to the latter place. The only railroad now plying between the city and Bristol is the Pennsylvania and while the service given by this company is very good it is thought that better facilities could be had if a competitive road was built. The Frankford branch will be constructed by the beginning of Spring and trains will be running over it. This road will open up a new section of the city and will give to the residents of Frankford easy access to the business portion of the city. The president of the Frankford Railroad Company is very enthusiastic over his road and he predicts that it will not be very long before it is extended, but where to, he refuses to say at the present time, he preferring to wait until the new road is opened before any new enterprises are engaged upon. While the president of the company will not talk of further extensions, a gentleman who is also connected with this company said: "When everything is completed the new road will run almost parallel with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company between Frankford and Bristol. The new line will not at first be constructed as far as Bristol, but in all probability it will be built so as to take in Tacony and Holmesburg. At the present time the Pennsylvania Railroad runs quite a distance from these towns, the residents of which have to walk a considerable distance to the New York division on the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The new line will obviate a great deal of this by having its tracks run at a near point to the centre of these towns. By doing this, it is said, it will not only be of great service to the residents, but will help greatly to build up this section of the city as well as giving better facilities to manufacturers and offering them better inducements to build their mills up in this section of the city where they can have not only good railroad facilities but have a good water supply as there are a number of large streams in this part of the country."

Through Pennsylvania.

 When any of the following are not post office towns they will be so designated.

—At Ridley Park, Delaware Co., C. J. Urban has broken ground for a new dwelling.

—At Bridgeport, Montgomery Co., the contract for the erection of the foundation of the public building has been awarded to Abraham Moore, of Uniontown, Fayette Co., Pa.

—At Lansdowne, Delaware Co., the brick dwelling house property of James W. Pennypacker, on Fairview Avenue, was destroyed by fire last week, causing a loss of about $7000.

—At Lancaster, Lancaster Co., the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company has purchased five acres of ground with the intention, it is said, of enlarging the present freight station.

The building was 35 x 250 feet, and occupied by Henry Fulmer, who worked the raw material; E. L. Kraus, who manufactured the slates, and Joshua Schaeffer & Co., who manufactured blackboards and mantels.

—At Haverford, Montgomery Co., the plant of the Haverford Electric Light Co. was destroyed by fire a few days since at a loss of about $20,000. Scott, of Philadelphia, is the Secretary and Treasurer of the company.

—At Norristown, Montgomery Co., ground has been broken by Elliston M. Daniels for a dwelling at Main Street and Haw's Avenue, to cost about $8500.—Peter V. ## A Few Quiet Words with House Builders and Owners.

If the kitchen of your house is small, you need to economize room. You can do this by using a range with elevated boiler, such as the

"FIDELITY."

It will reduce the cost of plumbing also. We make them with seven inch or eight inch boiler holes, ovens on right or left of fire, with or without hot closets, and also to heat an upper room. Splendid bakers. Hot water in abundance. The latest and best of their class.

Excelsior Double Oven Range.

If the kitchen is roomy and large, cooking capacity is sought. You will want a brick-set range with a vertical circulating boiler, set in the usual way. The

are acknowledged all over Philadelphia, in which city and vicinity some 75,000 have been sold as the standard brick-set range. They are furnished with ventilated ovens, oven-door pedals, rocking grates, and all modern improvements. Made in seven and eight inch sizes; single, double and hot-air ranges. Send for descriptive pamphlet, entitled "PERFECT COOKING."

Architect Notes.

A number of architects of this city have prepared plans in competition for a Lutheran church to be erected at Twenty-fourth and Thompson Streets. It is understood the award will be made by the building committee at an early day.

Theophilus P. Chandler, architect, Brown Bros. Building, Fourth and Chestnut Streets, has made plans for a handsome house to be erected at 1229 Locust Street, to be five stories high, front to be of Lake Superior red stone, slate roof, hot air heat, electric work and best modern conveniences.

The competition for plans for the Reading City Young Men's Christian Association Building has been decided in favor of the drawing presented by Thomas P. Lonsdale, architect, Fourth and Walnut Streets, and the work will be pushed on the details at once to completion and the structure contracted for.

Walter H. Geissinger, architect, southwest corner of Twelfth and Chestnut Streets, has prepared plans for a temporary storehouse for yarns; also water tanks and cisterns and settling tanks for Hoyle, Harrison & Kaye, Filmore Street and Indiana Avenue. The storehouse will face on Tusculum Street, above Indiana Avenue. It will be of brick and stone, one story high.

The Real Estate Committee of the Bourse met on the 18th inst. and considered certain changes in the plans for the structure. It is proposed to make several courts or light wells instead of one general in the centre of the building, and these to open on Ranstead Street. This, with some other minor alterations, will likely be adopted and the plans pushed to completion at once.

Isaac Pursell, architect, 119 South Fourth Street, has made plans for the Calvary Evangelic Lutheran Church, Forty-first and Mantua Avenue. The structure will be one story high, red brick, 60 x 75 feet, and will have a slate roof. The trimmings will be principally of mottled bricks. The interior will be handsomely fitted with church furniture. Some leaded window work will be introduced. Estimates are being made.

Day & Coates, architects, 910 Drexel Building, are engaged on plans for alterations to house of Chas. H. Eldridge, Bloomingdale Avenue, Wayne, Delaware Co., Pa. These will include new interior work, kitchen, laundry, dining-room, electric work and all modern conveniences. Same gentlemen are busy on other work under supervision, and for which contracts are awarded and fully noted in this journal in previous architect notes.

Boyden and Taylor, architects, 413 Walnut Street, are engaged on plans for a Presbyterian church to be erected at Seattle, Washington, for Dr. Alexander Allison, of this city, who will assume charge of the congregation at an early day. The structure will be of stone and brick construction, slate or metal roof, and the interior in hard wood; will contain seats for about 1000 persons. The building will have committee rooms, pastor's study; also a sub-division for Sunday school work.

A matter of interest to architects and engineers has been proposed through a communication at the meeting of City Councils on the 17th inst. The Trades League is urging Select Council for the improvement of the harbor front of Philadelphia and authorizing the offering of rewards by the city of $1000 for the best plans submitted, $500 for the second and $300 for the third, and to appropriate $2500 to defray the expenses and prizes incidental to this competition. The communication was referred to the Committee on Commerce and Navigation.—President Gates appointed Messrs. McCoach, Gilbert, Anderson, Clay and McMullen as a committee to act with a similar number from Common Council in the matter of the proposed removal of the Eastern Penitentiary from its present locality.—Mr. Brighthurst presented an ordinance to authorize the erection of a new morgue building in the Twenty-seventh ward, on a lot on the west side of the Schuylkill, between South street bridge and the Almshouse wharf. The matter was referred to the Committee on City Property.

The Supervising Architect's office is so rushed with work that it has been found impracticable to do anything beyond the merest preliminaries toward the preparation of the plans for the new Mint building in Philadelphia. By the time the site is acquired, however, it is hoped that the Supervising Architect's assistants will have time to perfect the plans. The Supervising Architect in his annual report will tell what has been done about acquiring the site, and will recommend an appropriation of half a million dollars to carry on the work, which recommendation the Secretary of the Treasury will also transmit in his annual estimates to Congress. In the present condition of the Treasury finances it will be more difficult to get this appropriation at the coming session than it was even to get the appropriation at the last session. Secretary Foster, who does not believe in the coining of silver dollars at all, is nevertheless personally willing to do all that he can to promote the building of the new Mint. United States Attorney Ingham is preparing papers for the necessary condemnation proceedings for the property to be occupied by the new Mint. Application will shortly be made to a judge to appoint a jury to hear the evidence and fix the value of the property condemned.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

The B. & O. R. R. is about to construct a large machine shop, 36 x 90 feet, at Fifty-eighth Street, on the line of the road. E. Brady & Son, of Baltimore, are the contractors.

In the case of the Miles King estate, against the Cohansey Glass Works, the jury have awarded the full amount of the claim—$13,005.55—for the construction of a factory.

Albert E. Norton, 2425 Columbia Avenue, is about to start the erection of fourteen two-story brick houses, 14 x 40 feet, on Willow, south of Cheltenham Avenue, Twenty-second Ward. All to be of best material, with modern conveniences.

The new addition to the Hale Building at Juniper and Sansom Streets will cost about $70,000, and a permit for its construction has been granted B. Ketchum & Sons, contractors, as noted previously in these columns. Work has been started.

Builder John M. Sharp, 1936 South College Avenue, is still pushing his operation on the late site of the House of Refuge and will start ten new houses on Poplar and Parrish, west of Twenty-second Street. All to be of press brick and stone fronts and steps, with best interior work, including all modern accommodations.

Cofrode & Evans, contractors, Fourth and Walnut Streets, have the contract to build a large warehouse at Delaware Avenue and Green Street, for Alexander Kerr & Sons, salt merchants, now located on Delaware avenue above Arch Street, their present wharf and warehouse having been sold to the Lehigh Valley Railroad some time ago.

The Commercial Exchange decided by a vote of 160 to 90, on the 16th inst., to purchase a controlling interest in the Chamber of Commerce Building, Second Street, above Walnut, and this action is but the culmination of a movement began about two years ago, when it was proposed to make considerable alteration and improvement to the structure. At that time a full description was given in this journal of the suggested work, which included a division of many of the rooms, passenger elevator, electric work, new lavatories and more general comforts than are at present contained in the structure. This will now be accomplished beyond doubt by a committee which will be appointed at the next general meeting of the controlling body.

PHILADELPHIA, NOV. 17, 1892.

MR. JOHN N. GALLAGHER:

DEAR SIR:—I thank you for a copy of your valuable journal, the Real Estate Record and Builders' Guide, of this city, and beg to say I always read it with pleasure and interest.

The analysis of building operations in plain, tabulated form is most accurate and well compiled by your city editor, Mr. J. F. Brisbane, from the daily and general records of this bureau, and whose indefatigable labor is, I am sure, appreciated by your patrons. I consider your paper a great adjunct to the general business interests of this city, state and nation, and its management entitled to much consideration.

Very Respectfully Yours,

WM. J. GILLINGHAM,
President.

It is with pleasure that we publish the above letter from our esteemed friend, Mr. William J. Gillingham, President of the Bureau of Building Inspectors of this city, who in unmistakable language endorses our report of building operations published in our issue of November 9th, 1892. This endorsement coming, as it does, entirely unsolicited from such eminent and conservative authority, is certainly the highest possible testimony to the efforts of this journal in presenting reliable statistics of Philadelphia's building operations.

The well-known Howard Foundry and Machine Works, 17 South Eighteenth Street, has made some changes, owing to the withdrawal of J. M. Howard and the entrance of S. Norris Craven into the firm. These works, which were established in 1851, are running at their full capacity to fill orders for placing dumb waiters, hand power and hydraulic elevators throughout the city and state, as well as in the South, West and Eastern States, besides doing a large amount of general machine work. The present proprietors are E. A. Blanton, Jr., and S. Norris Craven.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

James A. Fitzgerald, carpenter, 1232 South Nineteenth Street, will at once begin the work of repairs to St. Stanislaus R. C. Church, on German Street, east of Third. This structure was recently damaged by fire.

The Hotel Brunswick, No. 40 North Broad Street, this city, is to be enlarged by connecting 1402 Filbert to the present building. This will be done by means of a bridge in the rear. A permit to begin work is to be taken out soon.

John P. Leonard, builder, 812 North Twenty-Seventh Street, will at once start an operation of fifteen houses on Mercy Street east of Front, all to be two stories high and press brick, with stone facings, best interior accommodations.

George W. Stewart, contractor, 2536 North Sixth Street, has been awarded the contract to erect the factory for Thomas Devlin & Co., Third Street and Lehigh Avenue, and for which plans were prepared by Walter H. Geissinger, architect, and noted in this journal in full previously.

The vestry of the P. E. Church of the Holy Innocents at Tacony, have resolved to erect a parish building at a cost of $7,000 on property at Washington and Tyson Streets. This has been rendered necessary because the church building is too far from the central part of the town.

Two additions will be made to the Pennsylvania Iron Works at Fiftieth and Merion Avenue, an erecting shop and a boiler house, the former 40 x 172 feet, and the latter 98 x 133 feet, and each 34 feet high. These are to be one-story high and material brick and stone, fitted with steam power and general machinery.

John W. Fitzinger, contractor and builder, Manayunk, has been awarded the contract for all the interior work of the McCahn Sugar Refinery, now under course of construction at Morris and Otsego Streets, in the First Ward. The Newhall Engineering Company, 136 South Fourth Street, made all plans in detail for this work, and will supervise the same.

The most important feature in the real estate market lately is the consummation of a deal between William Weightman and John Loughran. By this deal the latter takes possession of a tract in the Twenty-eighth Ward bounded by Seventeenth and Eighteenth Streets on the east and west and Cumberland and Huntingdon Streets on the south and north. The price paid was $125,000 and the transfer will be recorded in a day or two. On this Mr. Loughran will build quite an extensive operation of two and three-story houses.

Kister and Orem were granted permission on the 14th inst. by the Bureau of Building Inspectors, to begin work on three large dye-houses on the west side of American Street, north of Huntingdon, in the Nineteenth Ward. Two of these will be one story high, 85 x 22 feet and 32 x 90 feet respectively. The other will be two stories high and 39 x 20 feet.

Geo. Watson & Son, contractors, have the contract to erect the new building at 19 South Seventh Street, before mentioned in this journal. The structure will be four stories high front. Above first story will be of Pompeian brick, Indiana limestone trimmings. The first floor will have French plate windows and iron columns. The size of lot is 20 x 100 feet. The interior will be fitted with an electric motor for elevator; also, wiring throughout, with all modern conveniences. This property is owned by Mrs. C. F. Garden, of this city, and dates back to 1788, the year in which it was erected.

The proposition recently considered for the union of the Epiphany and Grace P. E. Churches has finally been settled by a declination, mutually agreed upon. It is now definitely fixed that Grace Church, on Twelfth Street, above Arch, will seek a new location for the erection of a handsome edifice, and the Epiphany, it is understood, will also proceed to make such alterations and additions as will place the building among the finest in the city. For this work no plans have been as yet prepared, but measures looking to that end will no doubt be taken at an early day by the committees in charge.

The Augusta Hotel Company, of Philadelphia, was, on the 15th inst. chartered at Harrisburg with a capital of $50,000. Samuel Gustine Thompson, Samuel E. Stokes, Edward B. Stagers, Jacob Myers, Willis G. Hale, Frank H. Taylor, Peter Gray, and William H. Doyle are the incorporators. The company has acquired title to and will build an apartment house on property at Sixteenth and Spruce Streets, after plans prepared by Willis G. Hale, architect, 1524 Chestnut Street, and fully noted in a previous number of this journal. The work will now assume a tangible form and be pushed to completion at once under the special charge of Mr. Hale.

Examiner John M. Collins has filed his report upon the position of the city, trustee of the estate of Stephen Girard, which asked leave to exchange lands with Peter A. B. Widener and William L. Elkins. The Girard estate desired to convey to Messrs. Widener and Elkins the lot at the corner of Seventeenth and Porter, for which it is to receive from them the larger lot intersected by Eighteenth, Mildenhall and Siebold Streets, and fronting on Seventeenth Street. The exchange was made so that the Girard estate can square and adjust lines for building purposes. Mr. Collins reported in favor of the project and Judge Hanna made a decree authorizing the transfer.

The estimate of expenses of the Board of Education for next year, as presented to the School Committee of Councils on the 16th inst., provided for an appropriation of $3,065,986, with an additional sum of $1,546,500 for permanent improvements requested by the sectional school boards. For additional and improved fire escapes, 37 three-story buildings being unprovided for, $50,000 was asked. This item was reduced to $30,000. Item 53, $15,000 for the establishment and maintenance of public libraries and reading rooms, was increased to $25,000 on motion of Mr. McMurray. The item of $1,546,500 for permanent improvements was approved as a whole, with the understanding that the amount finally granted by the Finance Committee should be apportioned afterward. The item for salaries was $1,864,929.65. The entire appropriation was cut to the extent of $30,000.

By order of the Mayor, leases of city wharves for terms of three years each have been sold as follows: Sansom Street, Schuylkill, from January 1, 1893, $125; Race Street, Schuylkill, from April 1, 1893, $125; Pine Street, Schuylkill, from March 1, 1893, $50; Arch Street, Schuylkill, from January 1, 1893, $50; Locust Street, Schuylkill from December 1, 1892, $50; Lombard Street, Schuylkill, from December 1, 1892, $100; Cherry Street, Schuylkill, from date, $50; Marston Street, Schuylkill, from date, $15; Bridge Street, Delaware, from April 1, 1893, $50; Spruce Street, Delaware, from March 1, 1893, $200; Fairmount Avenue, Delaware, from March 1, 1893, $2200; Noble Street, Delaware, from March 1, 1893, $425; Catharine Street, Delaware, from March 1, 1893, $125; Davis landing, Delaware, from March 1, 1893, $20; Allegheny Avenue, Delaware, from March 1, 1893, $300; Vienna Street, Delaware, from March 1, 1892, $150; Palmer Street, Delaware from date, $230.

W. S. P. Shields, real estate operator, builder and general contractor, 735 Walnut Street, has just taken title to one of the largest tracts of land purchased for a long time in this city or vicinity, and comprehends one of the largest practical improvements of the near future. Over 900 acres of land along the river Delaware, bounded on the east by Fort Mifflin and on the west by Martin's Bar, and it is the intention of the owner to construct one of the largest coaling stations for vessels of deep and light draft of water in this country. The wharves will extend out to the Warden's line and be covered by elevated tracks, chutes and shedding. Also, railroad facilities on a very extended scale will be built as branches from the great Philadelphia and Reading system, at or near Chester, Pa. This great undertaking will present advantages, not only to the proprietor, but to general business interests of the country at large, as it obviates many miles of useless travel by water and obviates the hardships and winter ice which collects at the Horseshoe Bend, below the city, near Gloucester, N. J.

The Philadelphia Fencing and Sparring Club is making special efforts to raise a sufficient fund of $100,000 to erect the proposed club house upon a site now selected, but not made public. The location of the club house will be accessible to the centre of the city with good frontage and three open sides. It is not thought probable that the Turkish bath feature of the Boston Athletic Association will be introduced, but it is hoped that to the gymnasium, fencing and sparring rooms, swimming pool and shower baths, which they now have, there will be added a bowling alley, billiard tables, shuffle boards, a tennis court, racquet court, a restaurant, reading and smoking rooms. A circular has been issued with reference to the matter signed by Dr. Persifor Frazer, J. B. Colahan, Jr., Percy C. Madeira, Robert Toland, J. Madison Taylor, M. D., H. C. Brown, Wm. M. Kerr, W. E. Bates, E. D. Toland, Whitton Evens, Charles H. Mellon, Edward S. Page, J. Frank McFadden, Stuart Wood, Frank Miles Day, William L. Baily, William C. Pritchett, Jr., John Stewardson, John Torrey Windrim, Louis Carter Baker, W. C. Noland, E. James Dallett, William D. Goforth, Adrian W. Smith, Stephenson Constable, Henry Warden, A. J. Cassatt, John Lowber Welsh, Colonel Alexander Biddle, Dr. William Pepper and Thomas S. Harrison.

At the meeting of Common Council, on the 17th inst., Charles L. Brown, a member from the Fifteenth Ward, offered the following resolution, urging that steps be taken to have the Eastern Penitentiary removed from its present site to a more suitable location: Whereas, The Eastern Penitentiary was located in the County of Philadelphia, and the site therefor was selected by Commissioners appointed under and by virtue of the act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, approved March 20, 1821; and, Whereas, The Eastern Penitentiary in its present location is a barrier to further improvement in the neighborhood thereof; is detrimental to the interests of our citizens, and should be removed to a more suitable location; therefore, Resolved, That the Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania is hereby requested to provide, by suitable law, for the removal of the Eastern Penitentiary from its present site to a more suitable location, and for the opening of public streets of the city of Philadelphia through the grounds on which the said property is located and built; and, Resolved, That a joint special committee of City Councils be appointed; five from Select Council and five from Common Council, to secure the passage by the Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania of suitable laws for the removal of the Eastern Penitentiary from its present site, and for the opening of the streets of the city of Philadelphia through the grounds now occupied by the said Eastern Penitentiary.

If the Hicks loan bill of $3,500,000, which has been favorably recommended by the Finance Committee of Councils, passes both branches of those bodies and receives the Mayor's signature, of which their appears to be little or no question, long contemplated improvements, which have only been delayed for want of funds, will be begun and pushed forward as rapidly as possible. Under the provision of the bill the $3,500,000 will be allotted as follows: $1,000,000 to the Bureau of Water, $1,250,000 to the Bureau of Surveys, and $1,250,000 to the Bureau of Highways. These sums will be over and above any appropriations that may be made in the usual manner, and will be devoted entirely to new work. The $1,000,000 for the Bureau of Water will be devoted to the extension of the Spring Garden pumping station, and the placing there of three 20,000,000 gallon pumps to supply the East Park reservoir, the beginning of work on the station for the Queen Lane reservoir, the extension of the pumping facilities of the Lardner's Point pumping station and the laying of a large main from there to the Wurtz farm reservoir. The $1,250,000 to be appropriated to the Bureau of Surveys will be used for the purposes of connecting main sewers and in the building of new main sewers, together with numerous branch sewers. The Highway Bureau, which will be benefited by the new loan to the extent of $1,250,000, will devote the money to the repaving of streets not occupied by passenger railways, many of which have become main highways, but which are still covered with cobble or rubble pavements. Many small streets will also be included in the general repairs contemplated under the loan bill.

A number of prospective improvements likely to be adopted and pushed to completion in this city may be noted as follows: Commodore N. H. Farquhar, Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks of the Navy Department, in his report to the Secretary of the Navy, recommends the appropriation of nearly $1,000,000 for improvements at League Island Navy Yard. The report forwarded by the commandant of the yard asked for improvements costing nearly $3,000,000. All the more necessary items have been left in by Commodore Farquhar. One of the principal additions, which will probably be completed in 1893, is a new pier on the east side of the dry dock and exactly similar to the one already on the west side. To allow the construction of Government vessels at the yard the building of three construction slips each to cost $35,000 is asked. Close by these a shop 450 feet long, for the bending and fitting of steel plates, is contemplated. The amount asked will not cover the entire cost, but it is likely that about one-third of the shop will be put up and the machinery put in position. A traveling crane, which is badly needed at the dry dock, is recommended. It will be similar to the one recently erected at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, moving completely around the dock on a track 16 feet wide and having power to lift 40 tons, with a reach in any direction of 70 feet. Six other cranes of the usual stationary pattern—four of 12 tons and two of 20 tons capacity—are also asked for the shops. An immense pair of shear legs are recommended for Broad Street wharf. The designs prepared are for a pair able to swing 100 tons. The scanty supply of drinking water has long been a drawback to the yard, and this year $15,000 is asked to sink an artesian well. Among the other improvements which are recommended are new quarters for the officers, a cold storage house and wharf, where war vessels can be quickly supplied, and a line of railroad track through the yard and along the river front. The money necessary to build about 4500 feet of protection and river wall is also asked.

A Few Quiet Words with House Builders and Owners.

If the kitchen of your house is small, you need to economize room. You can do this by using a range with elevated boiler, such as the

"FIDELITY."

It will reduce the cost of plumbing also. We make them with seven inch or eight inch boiler holes, ovens on right or left of fire, with or without hot closets, and also to heat an upper room. Splendid bakers. Hot water in abundance. The latest and best of their class.

FIDELITY HOT AIR RANGE WITH HORIZONTAL BOILER.

Excelsior Double Oven Range.

If the kitchen is roomy and large, cooking capacity is sought. You will want a brick-set range with a vertical circulating boiler, set in the usual way. The

are acknowledged all over Philadelphia, in which city and vicinity some 75,000 have been sold as the standard brick-set range. They are furnished with ventilated ovens, oven-door pedals, rocking grates, and all modern improvements. Made in seven and eight inch sizes; single, double and hot-air ranges. Send for descriptive pamphlet, entitled "PERFECT COOKING."

Whether large or small, your house will require a heating apparatus of some kind. It will pay you to put in a really good hot air furnace. The

has no superior. Perfectly self-cleaning, with fewest joints, free from dust and gas, largest radiating surface, heavy steel plate, drum casings, easy on fuel, and of superior durability, it will always give satisfaction. A descriptive circular will be mailed upon application.

PARAGON FURNACE WITH EQUALIZED DRAFT.

We are advertising at present a $16.50 Suit, Cutaway one of the shapes, the other, an easy Sack.

The Material.—Clay Diagonal Worsted. It will prove its goodness in its staying power—in its long wear.

We have made 1000 Suits to begin with. You know what a difference in price between building 400 houses and 4. It's the same in making 1000 suits, else we wouldn't sell it for $16.50.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, NOV. 30, 1892.

It is evident that a new departure in building is rapidly developing in Philadelphia, and in a few years apartment houses will be one of the accepted institutions of the city. The ones occupied have proved successful investments and of course will be imitated on a larger or smaller scale. "The Lorraine," to be erected at Broad and Fairmount Avenue, and "The Augusta" at Sixteenth and Spruce Streets will be the next to claim public attention. As yet, however, the wants of the public in this matter have not been met either by those occupied or those in contemplation. They are too expensive, too ornate, and not adapted to people of moderate means who would like to keep house. The builder who is far-reaching enough to grasp the situation has a fortune in prospect. In various foreign cities the experiment has been tried and with great success. What is needed are apartment houses combining all the privacy and conveniences of dwelling houses, such as rent from twenty-five to forty dollars a month, and with the same facilities for housekeeping. This cannot be done by erecting them in expensive and fashionable neighborhoods, but there are a number of available sites in good streets, and near the center of the city that could be used to advantage for such purposes.

A peculiarity of Philadelphia was never more strikingly illustrated than on a recent Sunday night at the Broad Street Station, when a number of hungry passengers from a New York through train made a rush to secure the wherewithal to satisfy their needs. It is needless to add that they returned to their train sadder, and empty as when they started out. To their eager inquiries the guard at the gate returned with unfailing regularity and imperturbability the following answers: "Nothing to eat after 9.30 on Sunday night. Restaurant closes at 9.30 Sunday night." It is quite possible that the victims of this foolish and narrow policy returned to the train with various ideas in regard to Philadelphia's moral status, but it is certain, they were a unit in their opinion of the stupidity that closes up the restaurant at such an early hour in what is claimed to be one of the finest stations in the world, and allows passengers to seek in vain for food to satisfy their hunger; and a management that boasts of its superior equipment and train service, should go a little further and see that this state of affairs, of such inconvenience to the traveling public, is reformed at once and altogether. In passing it might be well to add that if the large number of citizens that now and then break out into protests against certain restrictions which do not interfere with the true progress and prosperity of the city, would turn their attention to practical matters of which the foregoing is one—their efforts might meet with considerable success. With proper effort, people can live without beer and music over Sunday, but it has not yet been found possible for man to get along in comfort without bread for any great length of time.

Architect Notes.

Daniel S. Beale, architect, Hale Building, is engaged on plans for a seashore cottage to be erected at Beach Haven, N. J. The structure will be three stories high, frame, shingle roof, and contain on interior nine bedrooms, kitchen, laundry and all modern conveniences, the departments for servants will be detached from the main building, open fire-places and a fine hallway will be features of the inner work. All the best sanitary plumbing etc.

Horace Trumbaur, architect, 310 Chestnut Street, has made plans for a fine residence for Leopold Landreth near Bristol, Pa., to be erected along the Delaware River front. The structure will be of stone and frame three stories high and will contain all modern conveniences including electric work, steam heat, speaking tubes, best sanitary plumbing, etc. A fine stairway will lead from the house to bank of the river and the grounds will be laid out in quite a handsome manner by the architect.

Robert K. Marple, architect, 708 Walnut Street, has made plans for a fine store and dwelling at 18th and Columbia Avenue for W. J. Gilmore, also alterations to Southeast corner of 19th and Diamond Streets for Dr. A. J. Wormley, to be a dwelling and store, first floor will be in hard wood, electric work, tile floor, and all the latest and best improvements; contract for work not yet awarded. Same architect has prepared plans for a fine residence for Dr. Frederick M. Luther, at the corner of Girard Avenue and Walters Street, to be 20 x 45 feet, fine open stairs in centre of building, brown stone front, skylights, stained glass, electric work, best of sanitary plumbing and all modern conveniences, etc. Contract not awarded. Alteration of two stores at corner of 8th and Race Streets, also the adjoining property into a store for Mr. George Davis; the latter will be, when finished, one of the handsomest in this city, and will be used as a saloon; incandescent electric and arc lights will be introduced, hard wood and paneled sides with a handsome frescoed ceiling as well as best plumbing, etc. Contract for work not let. Also plans for a cottage for Mr. William Gabele, the builder to be erected at Trenton, N. J., of frame construction, open stairway in centre of the building and on interior. All modern improvements and conveniences will be introduced.

Lincoln Market and Hall, at Broad Street and Fairmount Avenue, has been sold under forfeit for $150,000 to a stock company of Philadelphians and New Yorkers, who will erect on the site a twelve-story apartment house with a roof garden, the new structure being planned to cost $300,000—a total investment of nearly half a million dollars. The front is on Broad Street, and the depth on Fairmount Avenue is about that of the Park Theatre. On Potts Street, however, the depth is increased by several yards of ground in the rear of Gus Kappes' saloon, which fronts on Fairmount and abuts the rear party wall on the market. For years the returns of the building were from 8 to 10 per cent. But during the last year according to one of the Directors, the market folk have been dissatisfied with their accommodations. They lodge with Kappes, the saloon-keeper, but stabling for the teams was wanting in the immediate vicinity, and the lack of it occasioned trouble and anxiety. The dividends fell to 4 per cent, and several months ago blocks of stock whose par was $50 sold for $25 per share. The outcome was that a Committee of the Directors was appointed to dispose of the property, and Willis G. Hale, architect; J. S. Thorne, and present Superintendent, Harry Hibbit, arranged the sale to a Stock Company for $150,000 cash. The purchasing Company has posted a substantial forfeit against the transfer of the title deeds by July of next year. On Wednesday last there was a meeting of the stockholders, when the action of the Committee was ratified. The new building, it is expected, will be built next Summer, and will be ready for occupancy next Fall. Mr. Hale, whose office is at No. 1524-26 Chestnut Street, has the plans already drawn. They provide for a twelve-story apartment house occupying the entire site, the material being buff brick similar to that employed in the Keneseth Israel Synagogue, on Broad Street above Columbia Avenue, recently dedicated. On the ground floor there will be a cafe and restaurant. The roof will be a garden, wherein Summer concerts are to be given. The particulars of the interior decorations and fittings have not as yet been made public, although it is understood that they are planned. Inclusive of the purchase money the cost of the building, when completed will be $450,000.

Plans by Walter H. Geissinger, architect, Twelfth and Chestnut Streets, are on boards for estimate for the construction of foundation for dynamo and engine, at the works of Hoyle, Harrison & Kaye, Filmore Street and Indiana Avenue. This will be done with other work heretofore noticed in the columns of this journal.

Culver & Hudson, architects, Williamsport, Pa., have made plans for a mission church, at Eagles Mere, for the Baptist congregation, to be 36 x 68 feet, one-story frame structure, stained glass, furnace heat, shingle roof and good furniture on interior.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

The Baltz Brewing Company is to erect a one-story brick annex to its boiler house on south side of Thompson Street west of Thirty-first. The structure will be 37½ x 60 feet.

C. C. Moore & Bro., builders, 2001 North Broad Street, will at once begin the erection of thirty-five two-story houses on south side of Orleans Street east of Amber, all to be of press brick with stone facings and steps and best of accommodations on interior.

The whole vicinity of Thirteenth, Broad, Fifteenth and between Callowhill and Pennsylvania Avenue is to undergo a great transformation shortly, for as soon as all the passenger service is transferred to the elevated road the work of making these changes will be begun.

Quite an extensive addition will be erected to the hay market of the P. R. R. in West Philadelphia. It will be a one-story building of corrugated iron fronting sixty feet on Market Street and extending two hundred feet back along the tunnel over Thirty-second Street.

The old passenger station of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company at Thirteenth and Callowhill Streets, is to be done away with as soon as the elevated road is in working order. The building is to be completely remodeled and is to be turned into an immense freight station. This building is well known to the inhabitants of Reading, Pottsville and other towns in Berks and Montgomery Counties. For years it was the only depot in which trains from that section of the country were run to. The building was never considered a very striking one, it being alluded to a meeting of the Legislature by Joseph Hancock as a "Berks County barn with the end blown out," which remark greatly displeased President Gowen.

The Board of Trustees at the Jefferson Medical College held a meeting on the 23d inst. and considered the matter of removal of the hospital to some other locality, but could not definitely fix upon a site. The 30th inst. was fixed on for the matter to be again brought up and finally arranged.

E. White, 2729 Girard Avenue, contracting painter and dealer in painters' supplies, has secured the contracts for painting and glazing on the following buildings: Ward Building for the Church Home for Children, Angora Station; 11 houses at Thirty-fourth and Spring Garden Streets, hardwood finish; six-story building, 1013 Market Street for James Stone.

Remington & Co., No. 1227 Market Street, have purchased a large property extending from Beach Street through to Richmond, near Vienna Street, 120 feet front by 247 feet deep, with two large four-story factories, with engines, boilers and shafting, and will equip it at once with new and modern machinery with all the latest improvements. The factory will be running within thirty days.

Parts of the Washington Monument, cast in Germany to be erected in Fairmount Park, arrived in Philadelphia yesterday on the German steamship Catania, from Hamburg. It is in process of landing at the Christian Street wharf, to be warehoused until the time arrives to have it erected. The parts are boxed and lie in the Catania's lower hold, and will be put on the wharf as soon as the lighter cargo is discharged.

The property No. 221 South Broad Street having been purchased by the Committee appointed by Bishop Whitaker for a Diocesan House, steps are now being taken to secure at least $50,000 upon which to erect a suitable structure, the house now upon the lot being utterly inadequate for the proposed purpose and is so much out of repair that it would require the expenditure of a considerable amount of money to render it habitable. The Committee is of the opinion that it should at once be torn down and a new and properly constructed building erected in its stead. An appeal is being sent out for contributions, in which are quoted the words of Bishop Whitaker in his address to the Convention in 1889, in which he says such a house is needed as a place where "the business of the diocese can be concentrated and adequately provided for. Such a house should contain rooms for committees and the representatives of the many organizations and societies connected with the Church where examinations by the chaplains may be conducted, and where the numerous meetings required in carrying on the necessary diocesan work may be held. There should be one room large enough for meetings of the clergy. It should contain a fire-proof for the registrar of the Diocese in which the valuable records and priceless relics of the past, many of which are deposited in various places, may be kept. There can be but one opinion respecting the importance of providing the convenience which such a building would supply. So numerous are the organizations whose proper place of meeting is at the Episcopal headquarters that the present accommodations are entirely insufficient." The property at No. 221 South Broad Street cost $60,000 and it is thought that with little effort that $50,000 can be raised for the erection of the proposed building.

With the advent of the Winter season quite a number of building operations are in full blast and others nearing completion. Among those classed as above may be noted the fine large apartment Hotel of J. D. Fox at Broad and Spruce streets, which has been constructed after plans by J. D. Allen, architect of this city, and now receiving the completing touches; also the Hotel Metropole is well under way and located in the same vicinity under supervision of Mr. Angus S. Wade. The Jno. F. Betz office building at Broad Street and South Penn Square is now under roof, and will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible. Allen B. Rorke, general contractor. The Fidelity Trust and Safe Deposit Company's new addition on Fourth above Chestnut Street is well under way and almost ready for the superstructure, whilst the Provident Life and Trust Company's addition just opposite the latter is now under roof and nearing completion. The College of Pharmacy on Fourth Street above Cherry is being fitted up on the interior with the finishing touches necessary for the occupancy by the first of January 1893. The Winter Circus is now complete and one of the fixed institutions of this city. Both the Reading Terminal and the Pennsylvania Railroad's are busy upon their great depots, although the former will precede the latter in completion by many months, and for the work upon which many of the minor contracts remain to be hereafter awarded. The new additions to the Hale Building in the rear facing on Sansom Street east of Broad has the foundations laid and ready for superstructure by B. Ketcham & Sons, contractors, Willis G. Hale being the architect in charge. The James A. Stone store building, 1013 Market Street, is fast approaching the stage for roofing, under the able management of the contractor Mr. Jno. R. Wiggins. A new store building has also been started by George Watson & Son at 19 South Seventh Street and fully described in this journal in a previous number. These with a large number of factories, dwelling houses, two and three stories, and a sprinkling of churches, school houses, etc., are all in different stages, but a majority nearing a condition for occupancy.

Miscellaneous.

At Norfolk, Norfolk Co., a large warehouse will be erected by Dr. Gale.

At Roanoke, Va., architects Wilson & Huggins have prepared plans for college buildings to cost about $25,000.

At Chattanooga, Tenn., C. C. Howard contemplates the erection of a business block.

At Louisville, Ky., City Council has appropriated $46,000 for improvements to the city hospital.

Architect Notes.

Architect Otto C. Wolfe, 1345 Arch Street, has just completed the plans for a storage house for the Lewis Bergdoll Brewing Company, to be located on Parrish Street, between Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth. The building will be of brick, 80 x 150, and five stories high. Mr. Wolfe has also in hand plans for buildings for the National Brewing Company, of Baltimore, which will cost $200,000; two operations in Buffalo, cost $500,000, and two operations in Reading to cost $50,000.

Culver & Hudson, architects, 234 W. Fourth Street, Williamsport, Pa., are at work on plans for a new silk mill to be erected in Williamsport, Pa., for Jno. N. Stearns & Co., 234 East Forty-second Street, New York, comprising a main building 45 x 287 feet, four-stories high, weave shed 101 x 287 feet, one-story high, boiler and engine rooms 45 x 58, built of brick on stone foundations with tin roofs, sky lights, fire escapes, iron beams and window guards, plumbing, water closet and lavatory fixtures, steam heat, electric light, boilers, engine shafting, lifts, etc. Estimates are being received on the excavating and foundation walls.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

President Poth, of the F. A. Poth Brewing Company has made an explanation of an attempt to construct a building of wood after having submitted plans and securing a permit to erect an iron structure.

The Spreckels Sugar Refining Company will, on December 1, commence the erection of a mammoth storage shed at Dickinson Street Wharf. The structure, which is for temporary use only, will be of wood and iron, one story high, and will measure 61x608 feet.

Director of Public Safety Beitler intends taking vigorous action against all parties who erect frame houses or frame additions to houses in contravention to the ordinances of Councils. A letter from him has been sent to the Building Inspectors, in which he directs that each case coming under their observation should be reported to him, and then he will at once cause the City Solicitor to enter suit to recover the penalty of $75 per month for the period in which the offending structure stands.

It appears that Mr. Poth had Architect Otto C. Wolfe to draw plans for an iron storage house, 50x56 feet, to be erected on the top of the stock house at the brewery, Thirty-first and Jefferson Streets. These plans were submitted and approved and a permit issued. Then Mr. Poth, without giving any notice to the inspectors or to his architect, changed the plans and started a wooden structure. Inspector Supplee stopped the work. The matter came up before the board of inspectors on the 28th inst. Builder Doyle and Mr. Wolfe were present. The latter explained the error for Mr. Poth and said his client was now willing to do whatever the inspectors demanded.

Property values on Arch Street between Twelfth and Thirteenth, have for the first time in ten years had their taxable value increased by Real Estate Assessor John Adair. The amount of increase is 20 per cent., notwithstanding the fact that most property owners in that block were of the opinion that the Reading Terminal Road would depreciate values. East of Twelfth Street there has been no change and the assessors are awaiting developments. They are guided entirely, they say, by the figures realized in the sale of properties, in making assessments. Mr. Adair said they had looked into the matter very carefully and felt justified in making the addition, as during the year property at Twelfth and Arch Streets had been sold four times, always at an increased price over that realized at the previous sale, the figures being first $60,000; second $80,000; third, $92,000, and fourth, $100,000. This was only a single instance among many, he said.

JOHN F. BRISBANE, City Editor.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, DEC. 7, 1892.

It is a sad duty we perform in announcing the sudden death of Mr. Frank A. Fowler, Treasurer and Manager of the Philadelphia Fire Roofing and Brick Company, whose works are located at Clayville, N. J. Mr. Fowler was at the Builders' Exchange on the morning of the 2d inst., and appeared to be in his usual health, but in the afternoon during a visit to a relation in Camden was seized with heart failure and in a few moments breathed his last. The genial and loving disposition of the subject of this notice endeared him to a host of friends and admirers who will be shocked to learn of his sudden demise. Mr. Fowler's loss will be felt keenly by the industry with which he was identified, his large and increasing acquaintance and possession of business qualifications having rendered his service exceedingly valuable.

Architect Notes.

Plans are now on boards for estimates on construction of the two additional stories to 1304-6 Chestnut Street for Charles Dissel, owner. These have been noted before in this journal under architectural notes and fully described. Albert W. Dilkes, architect, 1001 Chestnut Street, drew the plans and will supervise the work.

B. F. Hurd, architect, 679 Broad Street, Newark, N. J., reports the making plans for a three-story frame flat building for the Park Building Co., of the above city, to cost $4500. Also plans for another of the same description for P. A. Rist, to cost $5000. Plans are ready for a two-and-a-half-story frame residence at Glenn Ridge, N. J., to cost $7500, and will be furnished with all modern conveniences.

Minerva Parker Nichols, architect, has made plans for a house to be erected at Cynwyd, Pa., to be stone, pebble dashed, two and a half stories high, shingle roof, colonial style, hot air heat, electric work, and all modern conveniences introduced for general comfort. Contract has been awarded to Mr. J. Fretz. The same architect has placed the plans on boards for estimates for house of Mr. F. L. Harrington, on Upsal Street, Germantown, and noted in this journal in a previous number. These include a handsome stable as well. All to be of stone, slate roofs and general modern conveniences introduced. For items refer to previous notes.

Charles Balderston, architect, 314-20 Walnut Street, is engaged on plans for a large seven-story storage house for Croft & Allen Co., at Thirty-third and Market Streets. To be 35 x 92 feet, of brick, brown stone trimmings and red mortar. Interior will be plain, one freight lift, and all modern conveniences. Much of the detail electric work and steam appliances will be contracted for by the firm. Also plans for a fine stable, 19.2 x 62.8 feet, two stories high; to be of stretcher brick, red mortar, brown stone trimmings, inside lined with buff brick, stalls for ten head of horses, and will be located on Lancaster Street south side, rear of factory. The structure will have all conveniences. The stable will be quite an ornamental feature in that neighborhood, and will be fitted with the latest means of ventilation, etc. Also plans for additions to nine small houses at Darby, Delaware Co., Pa., for D. W. Fuller. The additions will consist of two stories, 11 x 14 feet, to each house, front porches and kitchen in rear, etc. Also plans for a house at Atlantic City, N. J., for Mr. Christian Sautter, confectioner. To be three stories high, frame, with a fine basement, fitted with all modern conveniences.

Samuel Hall Day and Crawford Coates, Jr., architects, 910 Drexel Building, have made plans for alteration to residence of Mr. Alexander Purves, 917 Pine Street. These will consist of a new front of red sandstone and stretcher brick, alternated in bands, giving a nice effect; a handsome four feet wide door, walnut wood and leaded glass. The dining-room will be placed on the first floor and the second floor above made into a handsome sitting-room. The dining room will be in oak and cherry woods, with an open grate. In the first floor front, as well as the upper stories, handsome French plate glass windows will be placed, and throughout the building all modern conveniences, dumb waiters, electric work, etc., will be introduced. The contract has been awarded. The same gentlemen are engaged on plans for a new club house for the Belmont Cricket Club, as well as a grand stand. These will be in unison as to the style of architecture. The base will be stone and the remainder of frame, being two and a half stories high, principally of shingle work. The interior will contain on first floor pool-room, billiard room, with lavatories, toilet and coat-rooms and reading-room, ladies' ante-room and dressing-room; also, tea-room, janitors' quarters and a general kitchen for club purposes fitted with best culinary arrangements. On the second floor will be located a theatre or assembly-room, with seating capacity for about 300 persons. Considerable hard wood work and tiling will be done, and all the plumbing will be in nickel plate work and of the best system. The second floor will also contain a card-room, toilet rooms, dressing-rooms and conveniences for entertainments at any time. The grand stand will be frame work, with stone and brick base work, and seats for 1200 persons, all free of access, and on top a reporter's, or special stand, with seats, tables, etc. Electric bells and light, steam heat, open grates, speaking tubes and dumb waiters will be introduced, as well as all general comforts. Contract not awarded.

John D. Allen, architect, 1017 Chestnut Street, has been engaged by W. J. Gilmore to prepare plans and specifications for a new theatre to be erected upon the site of his building recently burned on Walnut Street above Eighth. The new house will be constructed upon entirely new lines and provided with means of exit upon three sides of the structure, also one leading in rear to Sansom Street. In the building much fire-proof material will be used; the exterior will be very ornamental and upon the east and west sides an eight-foot alleyway will extend the entire length of the structure; into these, in each case, wide exits will open from the upper and lower auditoriums. The area of ground covered by the theatre will be 70 by 130 feet and elevation 62 feet; the front will be of brownstone, buff brick and terra-cotta, ornamental; two fire-escape towers will be erected at the front of the building at each corner, into which all front fire-escapes will empty; these have no connection with the inside of the house, and will only be used in case of fire; these towers will be capped with handsome tops of sheet metal and tile work, the whole being absolutely safe and fire-proof. The roof will be of tin and an opening will be constructed over the stage with means for a safe conduct of fire, in case such should take place, and prevent communication with the auditorium; also a brick arched proscenium wall will be built in front of and over the stage. The galleries will be constructed upon a fine system and will be very handsomely upholstered, as will the eight proscenium boxes, the architecture being Moorish in style, interior and exterior. The seating capacity will be 2050; a fine system of electricity for lighting will be adopted and controlled from a switchboard upon the stage; lavatories, toilet and green rooms, with special comforts, will be fitted for actors and others, also one musicians' room with entrance to the orchestra from the main floor and exit on side of theatre. No rooms will be placed under the stage as in the former building. Steam heat and automatic sprinklers will be introduced into all parts of the house. In front a handsome business office will be erected, as well as ticket offices, etc. The work will be pushed as fast as circumstances will permit and contracts soon invited. Mr. Allen will supervise the work of erection to the end, and it is safe to predict that this will be one of the handsomest and most comfortable, as well as cosy, theatres in this country.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

A. Lincoln & Son, on north side of Brown Street west of Fourth, will erect a five-story building, 40 x 60 feet, to be of brick and stone and fitted with all modern conveniences.

Jesse String will erect a chapel for the Calvin Reformed Mission at Twenty-ninth Street and Lehigh Avenue. The structure will be 34 x 78 feet, one story, and fitted with church furniture.

Ground has been broken for the new building to be erected by the Pennsylvania Hospital on Spruce Street between Eighth and Ninth, south side, after plans made by Addison Hutton, architect, 400 Chestnut Street.—Jacob Myers, contractor, is about completing the building on the north side of Spruce, corner of Duponceau Street. The Morris Memorial structure is to be of brick, three stories high, and be used as a surgical ward, and has been noted in full in these columns.

W. T. B. Roberts, builder, is about to commence operations on sixty dwellings on Woodstock Street, north of York, all to be of best press brick, stone steps and facings, with good modern improvements on interior.

The Bergner & Engel Brewing Co. has purchased two 50 by 100 feet lots at Third-second and Master Streets from Carl F. Glocker and others, representing Xavier Ditsche's estate, for $10,000, subject to ground rents of $80.25 each.

W. S. P. Shields, builder, 735 Walnut Street, will start a new operation of fifty small dwellings at Fifty-first Street and Kingsessing Avenue. These will be the same in material and workmanship as others erected by this well-known operator in real estate in that vicinity.

John R. Wiggins, builder and general contractor, 1536 Seybert Street, has received the contract to erect the Calvary Lutheran Church at Forty-first Street and Mantua Avenue, for which plans were made by Isaac Purcell, architect, 119 South Fourth, and who will supervise the work of construction.

T. Melon Rogers, architect, 1122 Walnut Street, is making plans for alteration to residence of C. B. Hart, at Devon, Pa. These include additional rooms and minor interior work. Also plans by same architect are on boards for contemplated alterations to house of Henry Whelen, at Devon, Pa., which will be quite extensive.

The new Thirty-sixth Ward, which comes out of the old Twenty-sixth Ward, is bounded as follows: Commencing at the southwest corner of Eighteenth Street and Washington Avenue, south side, to Gray's Ferry Road; to Ellsworth Street, south side, to the Schuylkill River; thence along the Schuylkill to Eighteenth Street, to place of beginning.

In regard to the proposed erection of an additional building for Bryn Mawr College for Young Ladies, we learn that it will likely be erected during the Summer of 1893, and will be in architectural conformity with the other buildings now finished. Messrs Cope and Stewardson, architects, 316-24 Walnut street, Philadelphia, will prepare all plans and specifications in detail.

W. H. Thomas, of Jenkintown, has secured the contract for erecting houses for W. E. Weber, at Wyncote, Pa., before reported. Mr. Angus S. Wade, architect, drew the plans. Mr. Wade has awarded the contract for work on F. A. Magowan's house, at Trenton, N. J., to Charles W. Kafer, of the same place, and work on both will be started at once under supervision of the architect.

John Gourley, contractor, has received the contract to erect the P. R. R. Department of the Y. M. C. A. Building, at Forty-first Street and Westminster Avenue, for which plans were made by Thomas P. Lonsdale, architect, Manhattan Life Building, Fourth and Walnut Streets, and who will supervise the work to completion. These drawings were fully described in a previous number of this journal.

The Board of Trustees of the Second Regiment has asked for bids on the construction of the erection of a new drill shed on the lot on Broad Street above Diamond. The plans and specifications call for a building with 45,000 square feet of floor space. The front or administration building will not be started at this time owing to the fact that the fund is not yet completed for this building. It will be remembered the plans for this work were prepared some time ago by John Ord, architect, and fully noted in this journal.

The old Thomas Tasker homestead, on Fifth Street, above Sylvester, will soon be altered into a general tenement by M. Bear, the owner. The work will be done under the supervision of John H. Hutchinson, 1630 South Thirteenth Street. The structure at present is three stories high, 24 x 80 feet, and when altered will be much enlarged and suites of rooms increased in number. The same contractor is about to erect four three-story houses on west side of Clifton Street, north of Bainbridge. All of press brick, stone facings and best conveniences.

At a meeting of Councils' Committee on Municipal Government on the 30th of November ordinances providing for the opening of four squares to be used as small parks were reported favorably. They were as follows: Fotherall Square, Eleventh and Twelfth and Cumberland and York Streets, Twenty-eighth Ward, Ontario Park, Thirteenth and Ontario, Stiles and Thompson Streets, Twentieth Ward; Starr Garden, Sixth and Seventh, and Lombard and Carver Streets, Fifth Ward; Harrowgate Park, Tioga Street and Kensington Avenue, and Jasper and Kettlewell Streets, Twenty-fifth Ward.

Plans for crematories were submitted with the street cleaning bids on November 29th. ## A Few Quiet Words with House Builders and Owners.

If the kitchen of your house is small, you need to economize room. You can do this by using a range with elevated boiler, such as the

"FIDELITY."

It will reduce the cost of plumbing also. We make them with seven inch or eight inch boiler holes, ovens on right or left of fire, with or without hot closets, and also to heat an upper room. Splendid bakers. Hot water in abundance. The latest and best of their class.

Excelsior Double Oven Range.

If the kitchen is roomy and large, cooking capacity is sought. You will want a brick-set range with a vertical circulating boiler, set in the usual way. The

are acknowledged all over Philadelphia, in which city and vicinity some 75,000 have been sold as the standard brick-set range. They are furnished with ventilated ovens, oven-door pedals, rocking grates, and all modern improvements. Made in seven and eight inch sizes; single, double and hot-air ranges. Send for descriptive pamphlet, entitled "PERFECT COOKING."

NEW subscribers will receive this journal free until January 1st. The value of the REAL ESTATE RECORD to the interests it serves is clearly demonstrated daily. As an advertising medium for dealers in building material it is without an equal as it reaches weekly thousands of persons who read the sign boards in its columns with interest to themselves and profit to the advertiser. Persons having sites suitable for building operations or manufacturing plants will find our columns invaluable in their quest for customers.

MESSRS. VOLLMER & REGISTER, 235 Drexel Building, have been appointed selling agents for the Acme Cement Plaster, a new material to be introduced in this section.

Architect Notes.

The plans prepared by Willis G. Hale, architect, 1524-26 Chestnut Street, for the new apartment house to be known as the Augusta, on the Southwest corner of Sixteenth and Spruce Streets, have been completed and presented to the Board of Building Inspectors for approval. In the meantime the work of demolishing the old structures now on the site has been started. We have fully described this house in a previous number. Mr. Hale will supervise the construction.

John F. Stuckert, architect, 49 North Thirteenth Street, has been directed to prepare plans for addition of three stories to the Hotel Vendig, northwest corner of Twelfth and Market Streets. These will be in architectural conformity with the structure now finished. Walls of buff brick, stone trimmings and interior, with extension of electric work, gas pipes, plumbing, etc. Also, to make plans for a sub-postal station. These are complete and are being estimated on at office of the architect.

A. E. Linkenheimer, architect, Rooms 60 and 61 Eisner Building, corner Fifth Avenue and Wood Street, Pittsburgh, is preparing plan of dwelling for Mr. S. Sweeney, Pittsburgh, to be built of vitrified glazed tile and ornamental cut shingles; cost, $2500. Also, plans for Mr. Zang, of Allegheny, Pa., for a two-story frame dwelling, with all modern improvements. The same architect is also preparing plans of a neat residence for his own family's use. It will be equipped throughout, with modern conveniences.

A series of lectures on the Architecture of the Renaissance will be given at the Academy of the Fine Arts under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania, and as a part of the University course on the History of Architecture, the lecturer being Frank Miles Day, a member of the Faculty of the School of Architecture. By the kindness of the directors the course will be delivered at the Academy of the Fine Arts, as a matter of convenience to students and others. There will be four lectures, one each week on Friday, the dates being December 9, 16, 23 and 30. They will be fully illustrated by the oxy-hydrogen lantern.

M. Feilding, architect, 110 South Fourth Street, has made plans for residence and stable for Amos Ellis, Esq., to be erected at Thirty-fifth and Powelton Avenue, West Philadelphia. The structure will be of local stone the first story and remaining three of Pompeian brick with a Spanish tile roof. It will also have a handsome portecochere and porch around exterior nicely ornamented. The interior will be in hard woods and be fitted with electric work, steam heat, dumb waiters, tile work, French plate windows as well as some ornamental glass, the best of culinary work in kitchen, fine sanitary plumbing, gas fitting, open grates and the best of workmanship throughout. Estimates have been made on the work and the contract will be awarded at an early day.

Samuel Hall Day and Crawford Coates, Jr., architects, 910 Drexel Building, have completed plans for alteration and ornamentation of that part of Memorial Hall in Fairmount Park set aside for the reception and keeping of the great "Wilstach Collection" of valuable works of art bequeathed to the city. The Western half of the main floor will be devoted to this purpose and will be subdivided by wooden partitions made quite ornamental, and bolted by iron stiffening rods running lengthwise; the walls are to be entirely covered by burlap and frescoed in a highly ornamental manner. The entrances and exits will be draped in velour curtains, and those opening into rotunda will be provided with wrought iron screens; also, hinged gates of same material will be placed at intervals. The coloring and entire decorations are to be in keeping with the varied articles and paintings exhibited, and will, no doubt, reflect great credit upon those engaged in the execution of the work. The contract has been given to the Chapman Decorative Company, of Philadelphia.

Albert W. Dilks, architect, 1001 Chestnut Street, has been engaged to prepare plans for a large addition to the house of Mr. George R. Flemming, of Harrisburg, Pa. The interior will be fitted with all modern conveniences, including a fine billiard room, sanitary plumbing, bath rooms, lavatories, open grates, mantels in wood and probably in brick work, electric work and perhaps hot water heat; plans not complete. Mr. Dilks will also prepare plans for a fine bowling alley for the same place to be fitted with three alleys and parlor at one end which will be comfortably furnished. The same architect is preparing plans for remodelling the dining-room of residence of Mr. H. M. Rolin on Spring Garden Street, Philadelphia. Mr. Dilks has awarded the contract for E. L. Harrington's house and stable on Upsal Street, Germantown, to Thomas W. Wright & Son, of the same place. These plans have been noted before in full in this journal in a previous number.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

At the Lehigh Avenue Baptist Church a fund has been raised to renovate the present edifice. Rev. W. Calley is the pastor.

John Owens, contractor, is to build four three-story dwellings, 18 x 50 feet on the south side of Johnson Street, west of Main, Twenty-second Ward.

The congregation of the Harper Memorial Presbyterian Church, of which Rev. H. C. Fox is the pastor, has taken steps to raise about six hundred dollars to cushion the pews.

There is a bare possibility of the erection of an apartment house at Sixteenth and Locust Streets in case the property can be secured by the syndicate of Murrell Dobbins and others interested.

The resolution to publish a loan bill for $3,500,000 was passed without opposition. It authorizes the Clerk of Common Council to advertise the loan bill in two daily newspapers of the city for a month.

J. M. B. Morrow, builder, will at once erect twenty-two dwellings and three stores and dwellings on Mt. Holly Street, south of McKean. All to be of press brick, stone fronts and best interior work and accommodations.

The Post-office Department has arranged for the purchase of the property at the northeast corner of Eighteenth and Christian Streets, running back to Webster Street, to be used as the new postal station, to be called Southwest Station.

James C. Moore, builder, will at once start the erection of seven buff colored brick dwellings three stories high and fitted on interior with all modern conveniences. These are to be located on east side of Kensington Avenue above Lehigh; lots 18 by 120 feet.

An addition will be built to the Cheltenham Avenue Horse Car Railway in Germantown at once, as the present stable and car house are entirely inadequate for use. It will be of brick, one story high.

Wm. R. Brown, builder, Tioga, will at once begin the erection of eleven two-story houses East side of Smedley Street, north of Westmoreland. Also four three-story on the latter street, East of Smedley. All to be of good material and workmanship.

John Loughran, builder, has just bought of William Weightman a large tract of land for building purposes on the Northwest corner of Seventeenth and Cumberland Streets and proposes to begin at an early day an extensive operation of two and three-story houses.

The plans for the elegant apartment house to be erected at 1222-24 Locust Street by the Real Estate Investment Co. are now being pushed forward by Furness Evans & Co., architects, 209 South Third Street. We noted this prospective structure some time ago in this journal.

What is now known as the Fairhill Railroad Company's ordinance has passed Councils which will permit their grade crossing at many of the principal streets in the Thirty-third Ward. It will now be submitted to the Mayor for examination and his signature to become a law.

Geo. F. Payne & Co., contractors, 401 South Juniper Street, have received the contract to rebuild the Public Ledger Building, lately burned, and are now engaged with quite a large number of workmen upon the reconstruction, which will embrace principally interior work. All will be pushed with vigor to completion.

The Bedford Street Mission has purchased No 607 Alaska Street, adjoining the old Mission House, for the purpose of enlarging the facilities. The new building will be altered on interior considerably by introducing on first floor a swimming pool and on second floor hot and cold baths will be placed, whilst the third will be utilized for a gymnasium.

Members of the Union Republican Club say they will have a large accession to the membership of the club at the next meeting. Nearly sixty applicants for membership have already been posted. The subscriptions to the fund to refit and refurnish the club house aggregate $5000. A. S. L. Shields, Esq., has been elected President.

At Manayunk, Phila., William McFadden has purchased Terrace Hall Market House from I. Howard Keely for $20,000. The new owner will make a number of improvements and fit up the building for a livery stable and accommodations for about seventy-five carriages. A tramway will be constructed in the centre for conveying horses to the basement.

Builder Harry R. Shoch has just taken title to sixteen acres of land, at Forty-ninth and South Streets, for which he paid $70,000, and will improve the site by the erection of a large number of two and three story houses. Mr. Shoch has largely improved the northwestern part of the city, and is now turning his attention to the locality indicated.

At a regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania a motion prevailed to grant the Department of Physical Education the use of all the ground now vacant between Thirty-third Street and the connecting railroad on the east, for their purposes; preparations will now be made by the Athletic Association of the College to grade the ground and erect proper buildings.

John J. Torpey will shortly commence the erection of thirteen dwellings in the Twenty-fifth ward. They will all be of brick, two stories high. Six are to be 14 x 24 feet, on the south side of Sterner Street, southwest of Helen; four 14 x 41 feet 10 inches on the east side of Jasper Street, south of Sterner, and three 14 x 24 feet on the west side of Helen Street, south of Sterner.

James C. Moore, owner of what was known as Royers' Mill, Westmoreland Street and Frankford Avenue, and recently burned, is about to rebuild the structure. The new one will be of brick, 55 x 200 feet, five stories high and will have an office 30 x 30 feet, an engine house 25 x 60 feet, also a boiler house 25 x 50 feet and weave shed 45 x 200 feet, two stories high, all fitted with steam power, electric wiring and general conveniences.

The United Dairymen's Association, now located at Sixth and Race Streets, will at once consider plans for a new building to be erected at Eleventh and Wood Streets upon a lot just purchased. It is proposed to erect a structure fitted with all the latest appliances for keeping and storing milk, and the Association will also erect a cold storage warehouse for the care of butter. The office is now located at the present headquarters of the Association as above.

On the evening of the 6th inst. a fire broke out in the Public Ledger building, and damaged that structure to the extent of about $200,000, entirely gutting the interior. Contracts were at once made for the re-establishment of the entire work and promptly started. The elevators, electric work, speaking tubes, fine wood work in cherry, walnut and oak will be renewed, and many new features introduced and additions made. Mr. Childs will, in rebuilding, incorporate fireproof features wherever it may be possible, and hopes in a few months to consider himself entirely at home again.

Burd P. Evans, contractor, Manheim and Knox Streets, Germantown, is now engaged on a number of contracts, some of which have been noted before in this journal. The principal ones are a church at Twenty-second and Columbia Avenue; also, one at Conshohocken, Pa.; a large machine shop for the Midvale Iron Work, at Nicetown; factory at Woodbine, N. J.; a club house for the Pennsylvania Barge Club, at Fairmount Park, and an office building adjoining a factory, at Sixth Street and Glenwood Avenue, as well as a stable in the immediate neighborhood of Sixth and Westmoreland Streets.

The Delaware Quarantine Commissioners, appointed to co-operate with Commissioners from Pennsylvania in the examination of sites for a quarantine station on the Delaware River, transmitted their report to Governor Reynolds yesterday. The Pennsylvania Commissioners have also sent in their report to Governor Pattison. It is unofficially reported that the two reports agree in advocacy of Bombay Hook Island as the preferable site for the location of the proposed quarantine station, and it is expected that the Executives of the two States will recommend the subject to the respective Legislatures for appropriate action.

The city has given notice to owners of property on Fourth and Fifth Streets, between Merchant and Ranstead Streets, the site of the Bourse, that the work of widening those streets is to be begun January 1. Fifth Street is to be widened 26 feet between Merchant and Ranstead, making it 76 feet wide, and Fourth is to be widened 17 feet for the same distance, making it 67 feet wide. This work will involve the demolition of the old Seventh Day Baptist burying ground on Fifth Street, next to the market, and the partial destruction of a number of properties facing Fourth Street. As soon as this work is finished the Bourse people expect to be in shape to go ahead with the construction of their building and to clear the entire tract bounded by Fourth, Fifth, Merchant and Ranstead Streets.

The Board of District Surveyors at to-morrow's meeting will discuss the striking from the city plan of half a dozen streets in the Eighteenth Ward, so as to enable the Cramps to make their shipbuilding plant several times its present size. The plan said to be most favored has for its main feature the closing of Beach Street from Cumberland almost as far as the Aramingo Canal, so as to make Richmond Street the nearest parallel thoroughfare to the river. Hitherto want of room has greatly hampered the firm in the construction of the great men-of-war, for the yard between Beach Street and the river bank is too narrow. By the alterations proposed the Cramps will have an opportunity to throw into one section the entire block east of Richmond Street, and between Cumberland Street and the canal, the property having recently come under their control.

At the annual meeting of the American Catholic Historical Society, held on the 8th inst., at 119-21 South Sixth Street, a recommendation of the outgoing Board of Directors was adopted that active steps be taken to procure a suitable building by the society for its uses. The whole matter was then referred to the new board, with full power to act, which means the acquiring of property of their own at an early day. The officers chosen for the coming year are as follows: President, Dr. Lawrence F. Flick; first vice president, Rev. Thomas J. Barry; second, Samuel Castner, Jr.; recording secretary, William Carroll Matlock; financial secretary, Edward J. Aledo; treasurer, John F. McMenamin; managers, S. Edwin Megargee and Walter George Smith. Four others held over as managers, namely: C. Carroll Meyer and John H. Dugan for one year, and Rev. Philip R. McDevitt and Francis X. Reuss for two years.

The proposition to hold a public competition for plans for the improvement of the water front of Philadelphia and revision of the wharf lines, necessitated by the removal of Smith's and Windmill Islands, and the widening of the channel of the Delaware River, was considered by the Committee of Councils on Water Navigation on the 9th inst. John H. Hanifen called the meeting to order. The proposition originates from the Trades' League, and several representatives of that body were present, including W. M. Foulkrod, Thomas Martindale, President Joel Cook, of the Board of Port Wardens; Secretary Tucker, of the Board of Port Wardens; Secretary Sharswood, of the Maritime Exchange; William M. Neall, Andrew Wheeler, Assistant Engineer Richards, of the Pennsylvania Railroad; Louis H. Ayres, John R. McFetridge, Dr. E. O. Shakespeare, Henry A. Fry, President of the Grocers' and Importers' Exchange; Professor Lewis M. Haupt, Civil Engineer; Benjamin S. Janney, Frederick W. Taylor, Commander Harrington, of the United States Navy, and others. Professor Haupt made an explanation of what it was proposed to do after the Delaware Islands were removed and how Delaware avenue would be widened. Others spoke in advocacy of the proposition and the Committee took it into consideration, and will interest engineers and architects to some extent.

The contemplated improvement of the harbor, consequent upon the removal of the obstructing islands in the river, has received a decided impetus within the past few days by the purchase by the Cramps of that portion of Petty's Island needed for the full consummation of the project. When the plans for the partial removal of the island were approved the Government agreed to remove an additional strip on the western side, provided the ground be presented free of cost. The plans gave the revised channel a width of 1700 feet, but, desiring more, the Cramps endeavored to have sufficient additional land condemned. The New Jersey Courts refused this. Within a few days, however, the Cramps have secured, by purchase from the Masterson estate, which owned the major part of the island, the ground wanted. When this is formally transferred to the Government a Board of Engineers will be appointed to adjust the Port Wardens' line in accordance with the additional space secured. By the removal of this extra strip of Petty's Island the Cramps will secure ample room for extending their piers and for launching their vessels. The Harbor Commissioners will shortly present to Councils their plans for improving the river front, one feature of which will be a continuous stone bulkhead, 50 feet beyond the present shore line, suggested by Major Raymond, the United States Engineer in charge of the Government work. This added space will afford the means of widening Delaware Avenue, which is also a part of the plan. It is entirely likely that, while embracing a general plan for extending the piers and widening the docks, the Commissioners' plan will also recommend that the section between Moore and Queen Streets be selected for the beginning of the work. The Commissioners hope that by January 1 the island opposite will be removed and the piers can then be extended as fast as the owners choose. A number of the latter, including the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., have signified their intention of doing the work as soon as permission can be secured. The Girard estate fund, now amounting to nearly $1,000,000, for the improvement of Delaware Avenue between Vine and South Streets, which, it is said, can be used in the harbor improvements suggested, will aid the work very materially. The fund has always been considered available by the Harbor Commissioners, and they have no doubt that those in whose charge it is will apply it to that purpose when the time comes.

Plans are now being perfected by the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company for doing away with all grade crossings on Ninth Street from Green to Nicetown. Some of the streets will go over the road and some under. As the road now is, all the streets running East and West across the city from Green Street to Columbia Avenue cross the tracks of the Reading Railroad at a grade, which compels the company to not only keep watchmen at the crossings, but put it to the expense of erecting and keeping in order safety gates. Ever since the officials of the company concluded to erect an elevated railroad to Twelfth and Market Streets, they have been desirous of continuing the abolishing of all grade crossings in this city. To accomplish this without interfering with a largely increasing traffic requires considerable money and a vast amount of engineering skill. The engineers of the company have had instructions to carry out the elevated road further up Ninth Street, but it is thought nothing will be done until the terminal road is completed and in working order. While the officials of the company have not seen the plans, they have an understanding of what is required. Before anything can be done, however, the railroad company will be required to get permission from the city for the change of grade, not only to the railroad, but to the different streets which are on the line of the road. At the present time, Fairmount Avenue, Brown, Parrish and Poplar Street, Girard Avenue, Thompson, Master, Jefferson, and Oxford Streets, and all streets from Diamond to Broad are crossed at grade. The idea of the company is to do away with these grade crossings. To accomplish this it intends to erect or continue the elevated road from where the terminal branch connects with the Ninth Street tracks up to Master Street, which allows all streets between the two points to go under the tracks of the road. From Master Street, north, to a point southeast of Diamond, the tracks will not be materially changed, but the streets will go overhead. After Columbia Avenue is passed, a slight elevation will be given to the roadbed, so as to allow the streets to go under, by changing their grades; but owing to the bridge across Broad Street, the tracks will have to come to a level again, so as to pass under the bridge. When this is completed all the dangerous grade crossings on the Reading Railroad between Ninth and Green Streets and Tioga will be a thing of the past.

Nuts For Advertisers to Crack.

$500 will be paid by the Proprietor to any one proving that this journal does not reach yearly more buyers of Building Material, Machinery, etc., in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia, than any other paper, devoted to building, published in America.

GENTLEMEN:

We want to contract with you for an advertisement in this journal on the following basis:

To wit: Independent of our subscription list, we will contract to send a copy of the paper containing your advertisement, weekly and continuously, to every architect in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Washington, D. C. Most of the Philadelphia architects are subscribers, and as we report their work weekly we must send a copy when reported.

Also, a copy containing your advertisement to every builder or owner obtaining a building permit in Philadelphia and Camden, N. J., during the entire year.

Also, a copy containing your advertisement to every builder, owner, contractor and agent in Philadelphia, Pa., New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and Washington, D. C., and, in fact, anywhere and everywhere whom we report in our columns as building or going to build. This means that we reach more builders and owners who will erect mills, factories, churches, warehouses, schools, country and city residences, court houses, contract work of all kinds, in our territory than any journal devoted to building published in the whole world.

To make this proposition sufficiently specific, we desire it understood that this is a part of our contract with advertisers. We have been doing this for years to the satisfaction and profit of our patrons. In fact, our method of distribution makes our advertising the most practical and profitable obtainable, for it needs no argument to prove that the man who must buy is the available customer, if you sell the wares he requires.

The success of this journal is based on honorable dealing. We do not cut our advertising rates. First, because we cannot afford to do so, and at the same time conscientiously carry out our contract with the advertisers to reach the greatest possible number of buyers. Second, we hold that the journal that will take your neighbor's advertisement (size and time being equal) for half the price at which yours was taken, merits neither your respect nor patronage, and must soon lose both.

We ask to be included in your advertising list of papers. We are sure that you will find ours the most profitable advertising you have ever done.

Yours Respectfully,

JOHN N. GALLAGHER,

Proprietor.

JOHN F. BRISBANE, City Editor.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, DEC. 21, 1892.

THE annual report of Postmaster General Wanamaker, which has just been issued, makes interesting reading, a few of the most salient points being that five million dollars has been added to the gross revenue and the deficit reduced nearly one million dollars; the money order offices have been increased two-thirds; eighty-two cities have been supplied with free delivery; twenty-seven hundred and ninety new offices have been established; two hundred and sixty-three offices have been advanced to the presidential grade; there has been sixteen and three-fourths millions of miles of additional travel; fifteen hundred and ninety new mail routes have been established, embracing eight thousand five hundred miles of new service; the ocean mail service has been extended, and pneumatic tube service introduced. For the four years beginning April 1, 1889, the receipts and disbursements from all sources will amount to about $561,000,000, and in the handling of this vast sum not a defalcation of the public money has occurred. During the administration of President Harrison 5051 new mail routes have been established, traversing 29,690 new miles of post routes, and as an evidence of the care and efficiency of railway postal clerks, the ratio of errors has been reduced from one to every 3643 pieces to one to every 5466 pieces. Taken altogether, the report bears the stamp of thoroughness and contains many suggestions for placing the Post Office Department on even a better and more efficient basis than at present.

Home Buying Made Easy.

There is no city in the world where so much thought and care have been bestowed upon the question of making home buying easy as right here in staid old Philadelphia. Whether this arises from a spirit of philanthropy or from a sentiment justified by a superabundance of capital in the vaults of our financial institutions, makes little difference so long as the object to be attained is a commendable one conceived through honorable motives and consummated by legitimate means to the lasting benefit of those who confide in their benefactors. Heretofore various devices have been formulated, some with merit and others of such a questionable character as to demand earnest and thorough investigation, which they seldom received. It remained, however for The Real Estate Title and Trust Company, of this city, to originate a plan for home buyers by which depositors receive the regular rate of interest—two per cent.—paid by banks and trust companies upon deposits, while their savings are accumulating, whether they buy or do not buy a home; but in the event of the subscriber or depositor becoming a home buyer, then the rate of interest is increased to four per cent., or one per cent. more than is paid by the savings funds. When the deposit, with added interest, amounts to one-third of the cost of the property selected by a depositor, an instalment mortgage is executed for the remaining two-thirds, which is paid off monthly, the mortgage carrying the usual interest each monthly payment, however, decreasing the interest or cost of the living in the house until all payments have been made, when the mortgage is satisfied by the company. This is the only plan ever provided for the systematic saving of the first few hundred dollars, without the risk of fire, theft or accident. It does not possess any of the methods of get-rich-quick societies, but by providing homes promotes good citizenship and discourages communism and demagogism. This scheme seems practical to say the least, and if it receives but a share of the success that is expected for it our operative builders will probably be able to go on erecting two and three-story dwellings for a long time to come.

On the evening of the 15th inst. we were honored by an invitation to be the guest of Warner H. Jenkins, civil engineer, at a banquet given by that gentleman at the Colonnade Hotel to a large number of personal friends and business associates. The event was purely of a social character and conducted with the well known hospitality of the host. Dr. E. N. Yelland assisted Mr. Jenkins in entertaining the large number of guests and rendered the occasion one long to be remembered by those who participated. Mr. Jenkins has become recently the head of the Warner H. Jenkins Co., artificial stone and concrete contractors, and is the inventor of the particular system used by the company.

Architect Notes.

The plans by Jno. F. Stuckert, architect, 49 North Thirteenth Street, for the new Postal Station at Eighteenth and Wharton Streets, are on the boards of contractors for estimate, and the award will be made at an early day. These drawings have been noted in a previous number of this journal.

The plans for Gilmore's new theatre, on Walnut Street, above Eighth, were presented to the Board of Building Inspectors on the 14th inst. and proved quite satisfactory. A few minor suggestions were made, and all were pleased with the special caution and provision made in case of fire or accident. The drawings, as noted in full in this journal on the 7th inst., were fully explained by John D. Allen, the architect, who will also supervise the entire construction of the building in all its details.

Samuel Hall Day and Crawford Coates, Jr., architects, 910 Drexel Building, have completed drawings for the "Wilstach Monument," to be erected at South Laurel Hill Cemetery. The monument will be of dark gray Quincy granite, and four retaining vaults will be within the enclosure. A coping, also of granite, extends around the entire lot. Four handsome slabs brightly polished of granite will cover each vault. The entire work will be very handsome, and of best material and workmanship. It will be 23 feet high; the coping stones 17 feet each; bids have been made.

Walter H. Geissinger, architect and mill engineer, Southwest corner of Twelfth and Chestnut Streets, some time ago completed plans for a large warehouse building to be erected for the Abram Cox Stove Co. in connection with the present immense plant, at the Northeast corner of American and Dauphin Streets. The work will now be pushed with vigor by Mr. Geissinger, and the drawings contemplate a six-story building, 48 x 410 feet, to be of brick with some stone work and the old and the new parts will be united. Elevators for freight will be introduced, electric work and every modern convenience. The interior will contain 100,000 square feet of floor surface. This work has been noted previously in this journal. Work will be started at once.

Chas. P. Baldwin, architect, Prudential Building, Room 1014, Newark, N. J., reports by letter plans as follows: For a new operating room at Newark City Hospital, to be fitted with best of sanitary appliances. Also a house for Mrs. S. E. Potter, which will cost about $8500. Interior to be in natural wood, open fire places, steam heat and best of sanitary plumbing, etc. It will be erected on Washington Avenue, in Newark, N. J. Also plans for a stone storage and stable building, at Nos. 398-400 Bellville Avenue, for Mr. Elbert H. White, of the above city. To be 60 x 100 feet. Also drawings for an apartment house on Garside Street, same city, for Washington V. Ackerman. Size, 22 x 70 feet, four stories high. Also drawings for an apartment and store building, at the Northwest corner of Bloomfield Avenue and Parker Street, for W. D. Patterson. To be 60 x 80 feet, and cost $10,000. Finished with all the latest improvements on interior.

T. Frank Miller, architect, 1221 Arch Street, has been engaged to prepare plans for a handsome hotel to be erected at Doubling Gap Springs, Cumberland County, Pa. This will be quite a model structure and will be about four stories high. Walls likely of local mountain stone, and fitted on interior with all modern conveniences, electric work, elevator, best sanitary plumbing and cooking department. Details later on when all have been fully decided upon.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

Contractor Lower is to alter the old Home Building, on the Southeast corner of Twelfth and Fitzwater Streets, for factory purposes.

It is rumored that the Penn Carpet Cleaning Co. has bought property of John Fullerton, the smelter, on East Hanover Street, below Girard Avenue, for $9000.

Under a special ordinance of Councils two frame sheds will be built for the Boston and Philadelphia Steamship Company on the Delaware River front at Spruce Street.

Quigg and Linden, builders, are to erect at once seventeen two-story dwellings on the south side of Wishart, west of Jasper Street, all to be of press brick, stone facings and best interior work.

The old Chestnut Hill Baptist Church is to be extensively improved, being one of the oldest structures in the vicinity of that denomination, dating back to 1834. The present pastor is the Rev. William Blackall.

A transaction talked about is the purchase by the Remington Safe Co. of the old Horner furniture factory and Hall refrigerator works, at Richmond and Vienna Streets. Rumor places the price at $22,500.

J. Schwartz, contractor for artificial stone work, 2306-08 North Twenty-seventh Street, has secured the contract for the cement work for dwellings corner Twenty-sixth and Dauphin Streets. Wm. F. Kelly, builder.

David Hey, of Chestnut Hill, it is said, will commence the erection of a handsome dwelling on the line of the new branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad, near the buildings of the Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, in the Spring.

The Cambria Iron Co. will award contracts between now and January 1st for sinking two shafts at Sonman, and will erect one hundred ovens. The estimated cost is $100,000. A new town is also projected at Sonman, Cambria Co., Pa.

The Cramps of this city have won the award for the construction of two more warships, the Iowa and Minneapolis, the former to be a full battle ship, and the latter to be of the class known as an armored cruiser; it will require one or two years to complete the contracts.

Extensive alterations and additions will be made at once to the plant of the Louis Bergdoll Brewing Company, at Thirtieth and Master Streets, under the direction of Otto C. Wolf, the engineer who prepared the plans, which are now ready for estimating. Before noted in this journal.

The Augusta Hotel Company took out a permit, on the 13th inst., to build the nine-story apartment house, heretofore mentioned, which is to be erected on the Southeast corner of Sixteenth and Spruce Streets. The building is to be of brick and stone, 30 by 86 feet, and is to cost about $70,000.

The contract for the building of the two additional stories on the Yates' clothing house, Thirteenth and Chestnut Streets, has been awarded to Stacey Reeves & Sons, general contractors, 1611 Filbert Street. Work will be started at once under supervision of the architect, Mr. Albert W. Dilks.

The time named in ordinance of City Councils for the removal of the old market sheds on Moyamensing Avenue, below Washington Avenue, will likely be extended one year by an amendment to the original ordinance, making the time January 1, 1894, instead of the same date of the incoming year.

Mr. McMurray, of the Twenty-eighth Ward, offered a resolution in Select Council, on the 15th inst., that the Mayor be requested to advertise for a suitable site for a new Municipal Hospital, at a cost not exceeding $20,000, the sum named for this purpose in the annual appropriation to the Department of Public Safety. It was adopted.

Mr. Nathan Snellenberg, merchant clothier at Twelfth and Market Streets, has bought a fine lot of ground of George Zane on east side of Broad Street above Diamond, 140x160 feet. It is Mr. Snellenberg's intention to erect four handsome houses for himself and brothers upon the site. This operation will make quite a handsome improvement in the neighborhood.

Henry C. Brolaskey, trustee of the estate of M. A. Howell, deceased, has sold to the Farmers' Creamery Company, for $24,000, the large old church building and lot on the northwest corner of Eleventh and Wood Streets. The lot has a frontage of 68 feet on Eleventh Street and 81 feet on Wood and Carlton Streets. The building was used for a time by the Sunday Breakfast Association and for revival meetings.

The Sugar Trust is to have another competitor in this city. Plans have been completed for a sugar house for John Wiseman and others, who are said to be inimical to the big organization. The new building will be 72 x 168, four stories high, and located on the east side of Front street, north of Poplar. Harry C. Nichols has the contract for the building, and will shortly begin work.

Real estate men are talking of several recent purchases about Kensington, and rumor has it that more are contemplated. Perhaps the most interesting deal is one of Richmond and Beach Streets property, including 512, 514, 518 and 520 Richmond Street, valued at $10,000, and including the Tees real estate office, which the Cramps are said to have secured from Dr. W. W. Keefer for a foundry.

Applications from the Malta and West Philadelphia Boat Clubs for sites on the Schuylkill near West City Avenue bridge, for the erection of club houses, were received by the Committee on Plans of the Park Commission at its meeting on the 13th inst. Action was postponed until the next meeting of the committee when representatives of the clubs are expected to be present and explain their plans.

Strawbridge & Clothier have just taken title to the property on the North side of Filbert street, West of Eighth street, adjoining their present stable, for $30,000. This property is 20 by 150 feet, with an L in the rear, which gives an additional twenty feet. The buildings on this site are to be torn down by the firm and a large warehouse erected in their stead, which will be used as a supply department to the retail stores at Eighth and Market Streets.

The Real Estate Committee of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. has made a transfer of a plot of ground, at Forty-first Street and Westminster Avenue, to the department of Y. M. C. A. of that company. On the site the new building of the association will be constructed, full description of which we have given in previous notes. It is also said that the company will make up any deficit necessary to complete the structure.

A number of gentlemen have organized the Beneficial Building Association, which is practically a branch of the Bedford Street Mission, for the purpose of erecting a number of model dwellings for the extremely poor. Prominent in this work are J. G. Rosengarten, A. L. Wilson and W. G. Longstreth. The houses will be arranged for apartment living and upon reasonable terms of rent. These houses will be located in the poor quarter of the city, and the project will be advanced at an early date.

The congregation of the Haines Street M. E. Church, Germantown, are again agitating the question of moving from their present site and building another church in a better location. A meeting will be held by the congregation on January 9, 1893, for the discussion of the question. Isaac A. Smyth, John Welsh and other leaders advocate the project. It seems that $50,000 is already in hand, and enough could be realized by the sale of the old building to carry the matter through. It is proposed to erect a building to cost over $100,000.

Proprietor George Moore, of the Girard House, contemplates some extensive alterations and improvements. The partly finished lavatories are to be completed; the billiard room, which has been practically abandoned for several years, is to be refitted and provided with new tables, and the room in the rear of the bar-room, which was formerly used as a coat and baggage-room, is to be transformed into a handsome wine-room. Other improvements throughout the building will be made, and Mr. Moore expects to spend $100,000 in the fitting up and adornment of his hotel.

Hoopes & Townsend intend extending their already big nut, bolt and rivet works. To do this they have purchased the Stuart & Peterson Stove Foundry, on the north side of Noble Street, running from the Philadelphia Novelty Company's building, at the corner of Thirteenth, to Hackenburgh's building, in the centre of the block. The lot measures 237.6 by 185.6 feet, reaching back to Hamilton Street, across which a bridge will be thrown to connect the present plant with the new acquisition. Nothing will be done in the way of alterations, however, until after April 1, next, as the present tenants will not vacate until that time. The consideration for the property was $125,000, of which $55,000 remains on mortgage.

Work has so far progressed on the extensive alterations to the Philadelphia Bank building as to enable the builders to go ahead with the construction of the large five-story, brick, stone and iron office building that is to be erected over the old banking room, extending to Ranstead Place. This building is to be cut up into about 100 offices, to be divided by corridors, running from Chestnut Street to Ranstead Place. The floor corridor is to be open through from Chestnut Street and connect as an arcade with the Bourse. The new building is to be 59 by 61 feet, with 16 by 41 feet extension. Stacey Reeves & Sons are the contractors, and they have taken out the necessary permit. The estimated cost of the structure is $60,000. These plans were noted in full in this journal at the time of completion of the drawings, more than one year ago.

Plans for the new police station to be erected at the Northwest corner of Front and Westmoreland Streets were approved on the 14th inst. by the Building Inspectors. The building is to be of brick and stone, three stories high,  $33\frac{1}{2}$  x 84 feet, with a back building, 46 1-6 x 16 1-6 feet. The cost will be nearly \$25,000, and, as noted in a previous number of this journal, the contract has been given to R. C. Ballinger & Co., general contractors, 218 North Thirteenth Street.

If the kitchen of your house is small, you need to economize room. You can do this by using a range with elevated boiler, such as the

"FIDELITY."

It will reduce the cost of plumbing also. We make them with seven inch or eight inch boiler holes, ovens on right or left of fire, with or without hot closets, and also to heat an upper room. Splendid bakers. Hot water in abundance. The latest and best of their class.

FIDELITY HOT AIR RANGE WITH HORIZONTAL BOILER.

Excelsior Double Oven Range.

If the kitchen is roomy and large, cooking capacity is sought. You will want a brick-set range with a vertical circulating boiler, set in the usual way. The

are acknowledged all over Philadelphia, in which city and vicinity some 75,000 have been sold as the standard brick-set range. They are furnished with ventilated ovens, oven-door pedals, rocking grates, and all modern improvements. Made in seven and eight inch sizes; single, double and hot-air ranges. Send for descriptive pamphlet, entitled "PERFECT COOKING."

Nuts For Advertisers to Crack.

$500 will be paid by the Proprietor to any one proving that this journal does not reach yearly more buyers of Building Material, Machinery, etc., in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia, than any other paper, devoted to building, published in America.

GENTLEMEN:

We want to contract with you for an advertisement in this journal on the following basis:

To wit: Independent of our subscription list, we will contract to send a copy of the paper containing your advertisement, weekly and continuously, to every architect in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Washington, D. C. Most of the Philadelphia architects are subscribers, and as we report their work weekly we must send a copy when reported.

Also, a copy containing your advertisement to every builder or owner obtaining a building permit in Philadelphia and Camden, N. J., during the entire year.

Also, a copy containing your advertisement to every builder, owner, contractor and agent in Philadelphia, Pa., New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and Washington, D. C., and, in fact, anywhere and everywhere whom we report in our columns as building or going to build. This means that we reach more builders and owners who will erect mills, factories, churches, warehouses, schools, country and city residences, court houses, contract work of all kinds, in our territory than any journal devoted to building published in the whole world.

To make this proposition sufficiently specific, we desire it understood that this is a part of our contract with advertisers. We have been doing this for years to the satisfaction and profit of our patrons. In fact, our method of distribution makes our advertising the most practical and profitable obtainable, for it needs no argument to prove that the man who must buy is the available customer, if you sell the wares he requires.

The success of this journal is based on honorable dealing. We do not cut our advertising rates. First, because we cannot afford to do so, and at the same time conscientiously carry out our contract with the advertisers to reach the greatest possible number of buyers. Second, we hold that the journal that will take your neighbor's advertisement (size and time being equal) for half the price at which yours was taken, merits neither your respect nor patronage, and must soon lose both.

We ask to be included in your advertising list of papers. We are sure that you will find ours the most profitable advertising you have ever done.

Yours Respectfully,

JOHN N. GALLAGHER,

Proprietor.

WE WOULD ask the man who does not subscribe for this journal if he is going to do so for 1893?

If not, why not?

How any active business man having building material and machinery for sale, or the other fellow, who is constantly looking for contract work, can afford to do without such an important auxiliary as this journal has proven to be to many thousands of business firms, is as much a mystery as the Sphinx of Egypt.

True, some men get along very well without a pocket-handkerchief; some men could and do get along without this journal.

Send in your $5.00 for a subscription for a year. It will certainly prove the best investment you have made.

JOHN F. BRISBANE, City Editor.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, DEC. 28, 1892.

MR. REITH, 134 North Seventh Street, this city, has just completed a beautiful stained glass memorial window for the Old Swedes Church, at Wilmington, Del. The subject is the Boy Christ assisting Joseph at his work. It is claimed that this church is truly the oldest in America, and that it ante-dates any sacred edifice in Philadelphia by many years. Mr. Reith has also completed a crucifixion window, in the Munich style, for a Catholic church at Fort Worth, Texas, his contract including the entire church. He has also obtained the contract for the windows of a Catholic church at Easton, Pa.

CONSIDERABLE interest is manifested in railroad and financial circles over the report filed on the 21st instant in the office of the Secretary of Internal Affairs by the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company making a complete record of the company's condition.

From the report it is learned that the company owns or leases and operates 39 lines, with a total mileage of 1916 miles, of which 1353 are in Pennsylvania.

The capital stock of the company is given at $40,105,361.78, the funded indebtedness at $153,800,402.45, with accrued interest of $6,013,902.95. To the above bonded indebtedness must be added Car Trust obligations amounting to $3,514,000, making a total indebtedness of $163,328,305.40.

The capital stock of the roads operated by the Philadelphia and Reading, not including its own, is $108,536 851.35, and the funded debt of these roads is $205,416,702.45. The total expenditure by the company for construction and equipment during the year was $4,434,339.59. The total cost of the road up to June 30, 1892, was $105,668,006.87. The gross earnings from operation were $32,942,216.97; less operating expenses, $18,853,188.19, leaving $14,089,028.78.

There was an income of $575,163.69 from bonds owned and miscellaneous sources, making a total income $14,664,192.47; interest, rentals, taxes, etc., amounting to $14,280,480.45 are deducted from this total income, leaving the net income $383,712.02; under the head of "other payments from net income" there is $982,096.53, showing a deficit from the operations of the year of $598,384.51. There was a surplus of $1,334,754 on June 30, 1891, out of which this year's deficit was paid, leaving the surplus on June 30, 1892, just $736,369.49. The total passenger earnings were $5,866,711.24. The freight earnings were $26,792,121.20, and earnings from other sources, $283,384.53.

Announcement is made that the Philadelphia and Reading leased the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company for 999 years from December 1, 1891, and among items of rentals paid is $1,514,457.50, interest on bonds guaranteed, and $2,016,740 dividends on stock guaranteed of the Lehigh Valley. The total of rentals paid for other companies by the Reading is $6,311,229.66. The increases made in the funded debt during the year amounted to $7,503,419.96. There are 28,716 officers and employees of the company, who were paid a yearly compensation of $16,197,796.64.

Architect Notes.

T. Roney Williamson, architect, 136 South Fourth Street, is engaged on plans for a residence for E. T. Bradway of Woodbury, N. J. The structure will be of stone, three stories high, colonial in style of architecture, shingle roof, interior will be in hard woods first floor, electric wiring and all the best of modern conveniences will be introduced.

Furness Evans & Co., architects, 209 South Third Street, have issued cards of invitation for estimates on the superstructural work of the new office building of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at Broad and Market Streets, in this city. The heavy foundations are now approaching completion under the supervision of Mr. George Roydhouse, the contractor.

Wilson Bros., architects, Drexel Building, have made all the plans for the re-construction of the Public Ledger Building, and will supervise the work to its completion. The work is progressing very rapidly under George F. Payne & Co., the contractors, and will be made as near fire-proof as possible; considerable more iron will be used than before and special attention given to all minor details.

Bailey & Truscott, architects, 136 South Fourth Street, have been engaged to prepare plans for a new building for the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd, at Rosemont, Pa. The structure will be of stone, with a slate roof and 50 x 112 feet in area. The interior will be open wood work and one clear story. Hard natural wood will be used for the seating, which will be for about five hundred persons. The chancel and floors will be nicely furnished with carpets and seats cushioned. Steam heat will be introduced and likely electric wiring for lights. Fine memorial windows will be placed there, to be of leaded glass, and one large rose window will ornament the front. English Gothic architecture will prevail throughout, and the preliminary sketch shows a very handsome tower located at the side and centre of the building. It is likely work will be started early in the Spring of 1893.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

The special committee of Building Inspectors have condemned the foundation wall of the buildings 203-205 N. Eighth street and have ordered new ones to be constructed.

Gillen & Henon, contractors, Fifteenth and Tasker Streets, are about to erect eleven two-story dwellings on south side of McKean Street, west of Twelfth. All to be of press brick, stone fronts and best modern conveniences on interior.

Wm. Steele and Sons, contractors, 506 Walnut Street, are about to erect a one-story machine shop on Hancock Street, south of Somerset, to be 50x63 feet, and will be used to manufacture dyeing machinery; to be of brick and stone, with steam power and heat.

Allen B. Rorke contractor, Drexel Building, has been given the contract to erect the new sub-post-office station at the northeast corner of 18th and Christian streets, after plans prepared by architect John F. Stuckert, 49 N. 13th street and who will supervise the work.

The members of the Bureau of Building Inspectors have commenced their annual inspection of the theatres of the city, prior to the time for issuing the licenses for the new year. They are looking into the matter of construction, means of exit, safety of walls, floors, &c.

Bids have been invited upon the work of construction for the L Station to be erected at 9th and Spring Garden streets in this city. A full description of the work has been given in a previous number of this journal, after plans by Messrs. Wilson Brothers, Architects and Engineers of the Terminal work.

Mr. George Rummel, general agent for sale of lots at Avalon, N. J., reports the sale of several recently, to private parties, who will erect cottages valued at $6,000, on each lot. The coming season is looked forward to by the Company owning Seven Mile Beach, as one of prosperous sales in lots. The office is at Third and Harmony streets, Philadelphia.

Charles Hass owner of properties 31-33-35 N. 15th street, intends to alter these premises into a hotel, the lot being 50x72 feet, a four-story structure will be quite an imposing one. Mr. Hass intends to let the front walls stand with some slight alteration. An elevator will be placed, electric work and best of modern improvements. Work will be started at an early day.

Isaac A. Lee, fish merchant, Spruce Street wharf and others, form a syndicate who have purchased a large plot of ground at Arlington Heights N. J., and will construct about one hundred or more cottages which will be leased furnished or unfurnished, to parties desirous of either. This is one of the many fine places recently opened to improvement along the Atlantic coast.

Daniel Baugh, head of the firm of Phosphate manufacturers of Philadelphia, has bought a fine property at the corner of 16th and Locust streets, of Caroline Grinnell Moon and will erect upon the site one of the finest private residences in the city. The lot is 42x100 feet and cost Mr. Baugh $69,000. Plans will now be prepared, after which the contract for construction will be considered.

John Braun, of J. Braun and Sons, 1615 North Twenty-third Streets, will at once begin the erection of a factory building on the west side of American Street, north of Huntingdon. The structure will be three stories high, 55x111 feet, will have a basement, material to be used will be brick with stone trimmings and fitted on interior with steam heat and power. Cost, $15,000.

Estimates are being made for the new theatre of W. J. Gilmore on Walnut Street above Eighth from plans prepared by J. D. Allen, architect, 1017 Chestnut Street. These drawings have been fully described in this journal, and the progress of the construction will be noted in future. Mr. Allen's plans have been fully approved by all the officials on behalf of the city, and the contract will be awarded at an early day.

The Pennsylvania Order of the Cincinnati at a meeting on the 21st resolved not to do anything at present in regard to the erection of their monument, but to await coming events with a hope that the new Boulevard may be put upon the city plan during 1893, and a prominent spot secured for this grand work of art. This movement seems to give great satisfaction to the members interested in its success.

Condemnation notices were issued on the 21st inst. by the Bureau of Building Inspectors for the buildings at 2135-06-07 and 2202 Orthodox Street. The foundations of these buildings are above grade, and have been weakened by the grading of the street. The upper portions of the buildings are in good condition. One of the structures is a one-story frame building, while the others are of brick, and two stories high.

The Eastern Hydraulic-Pressure Brick Company, located at Winslow Junction, N. J., have received the contract to furnish the buff brick for the I. O. O. F. Temple, which is now in course of construction at Broad and Cherry streets. This will be a special order, as it comprehends two of the best colors and finest bricks made by this plant. Mr. H. E. Mack is the general agent and manager of the company in this city, office in the Builders' Exchange.

Carpenters and steamfitters are hard at work transforming the interior of the Fifth Street Market into a bazaar for bicycles preparatory to the Annual 'Cycle Show under the auspices of the Associated Bicycle Clubs. The building, which is soon to be demolished to make way for the Bourse, has but few stall renters remaining in possession and they must all vacate by January 1. The unoccupied stalls are being removed, a floor laid, galleries being erected and pipes for steam heat introduced. The show will be opened on January 4 and continue until the 14th.

At the annual meeting of the Twenty-seventh Ward Improvement Association, held on the 23d inst. at the West Philadelphia Institute, the following officers were elected: Samuel B. Huey, president; Henry S. Dechert, first vice-president and W. S. P. Shields, second vice-president. The Committee on Streets was urged to have an ordinance introduced and passed in Councils to resurface Baltimore Avenue with rock asphalt on top of the old cobble stones similar to the way it is now being done in New York, which work was examined by the Highway Committee, with Director Windrim and Chief Bullock, about two weeks ago.

The Abram Cox Stove Company has now begun the erection of a mammoth warehouse on the east side of American Street, north of Dauphin. Walter H. Geissinger, the architect, has planned the structure and will also build it. The building is to be of brick, 410 $\frac{1}{2}$  x 48 $\frac{1}{2}$ , and five stories high. Labor-saving machinery will be introduced wherever practicable. A feature will be a traveling crane, which will transport heavy castings from one end of the building to the other, and, when intended for shipping, deposit them on the cars alongside of the building. This structure has been noted in full in our previous issues.

The question of a Boys' High School is now assuming a tangible shape and the only barrier to progress seems to be one of site. Franklin M. Harris, of Select Council, strongly favors the project and suggests the northwest corner of Broad and Spring Garden Streets, because it is central and easy of access and it would lend additional beauty to the locality. Mr. Harris takes a broad and liberal view of this matter and says the city should secure the entire block to Fifteenth Street and rear to Brandywine, so that in the future extension would be a possibility in case it might be needed; also that there is no doubt about the action of Councils endorsing the recommendation of the Finance Committee in its recent action proposing the erection of the building.

The famous old Washington Hotel, on Chestnut Street above Seventh, has changed hands, Proprietor John Tracy having sold out to a syndicate, which has applied for a charter, and will be known as the Washington Hotel Company. The syndicate comprises David H. Lane, Senator John C. Grady, Robert Laughlin, John A. Lane, and Naval Officer Thomas J. Powers. Deputy Naval Officer Peter Lane will be manager of the hotel, and extensive improvements will be made in it. The price paid for the good will, leases, and fixtures is said to have been $20,000. With the leases transferred by Mr. Tracy and the extensions secured by the syndicate the new company will have an eight-years' lease on the premises. Mr. Tracy is one of the best-known and most popular bonifaces in the city, but was compelled to retire from business on account of ill health.

Judge Dallas, in the United States Circuit Court yesterday, overruled the demurrers on the jurisdiction question, and denied the motion to quash the Government's petition to condemn the property on the proposed site for a new mint. He appointed as jurors to assess the damages: John C. Bullitt, George W. Blabon, Samuel S. Hollingsworth, William F. Harrity, John T. Bailey, Henry C. Loughlin and James M. Robb. They are to be in United States Commissioner Bell's office on Friday morning to be qualified. The judge said that substantially the same disposition should be made of the motion and demurrers as was made in the case of Smith's and Windmill Islands. But he added that his decision was to be without prejudice, and with leave to again call up either and all of said demurrers and to renew said motion.

The work on the removal of Windmill and Smith's Islands will cease for a few weeks after the first of the year, as on the 23d inst. the contract of James A. Munday & Co., was officially annulled by the War Department, through Major Raymond, of the Engineer Department, of this city, who, in notifying Mr. Munday, wrote: "In accordance with the directions of the Secretary of War, dated December 21, 1892, and under instructions of the Chief of Engineers of the United States Army, dated April 22, 1892, I hereby give you notice that your contract, dated April 23, 1891, for the improvement of the harbor between Philadelphia and Camden is, with the sanction of the Chief Engineer of the U. S. A., annulled because of your failure to prosecute the work faithfully and diligently in accordance with the specifications and requirements of the contract." New bids will be advertised for and this no doubt will be as soon as the specifications can be arranged through the Department at Washington, D. C.

A fine building for a Young Men's Christian Association of the University of Pennsylvania seems assured. The work of canvassing began last Sunday, and already about $5000 has been subscribed. The cost of the new building is estimated at $100,000, so that it will be one of the finest Young Men's Christian Association buildings in Philadelphia. The entire sum will be expended in the erection of the building proper, as the trustees are expected to cede the necessary ground. Charles C. Harrison has promised the trustees' support to the project. The structure will contain a gymnasium for the use of the University in general, a large assembly hall, baths, reading rooms, etc., and will be made a centre for the religious life of the students. The junior class of the college department yesterday pledged their support to the project, and the other classes are expected to follow suit by the end of the week. Outside support will not be asked until the students have raised all the money possible. After that the business men of the city are to be called upon to subscribe the remainder.

Two of the most extensive fires took place on the 21st inst. which have afflicted the manufacturing interests of this city for a long time. The most disastrous fire was that which attacked the extensive manufacturing establishment of F. A. Bachman & Co., makers of novelties in women's dress goods on Second, above Somerset Street. The Bachman fire was one of the fiercest of Kensington's long list of fierce fires, and but for the fact that a northeast wind was blowing, which sent the flames leaping across Second Street, and enveloping the row of two-story houses opposite the mill, all the establishments in the immediate vicinity might be in ruins. The other fire completely destroyed the Somerset Street end of the factory building owned by E. Hanson, and occupied by various tenants, at Mascher and Somerset Streets. The tenants of twenty-two dwelling houses opposite the Bachman buildings were compelled to flee for their lives from the fury of the fire. The properties injured on Second Street run from numbers 2815 to 2855, all upon the east side and will require more or less repairs to place them in a habitable condition.

The formation of a physicians' club, which has been contemplated for some time past, was effected a few evenings ago, when a meeting was held at the College of Physicians. The organization is to be known as the Medical Club, and, according to its constitution, any physician in good standing may enter, provided he be properly recommended and passes the Board of Censors. For the present the organization will be a reception and banqueting club, giving dinners and receptions to prominent members of the medical profession at stated intervals, but a movement is on foot to build a club house in a location between Arch and Spruce streets and Twelfth and Seventeenth streets, and to this end a number of physicians have agreed to subscribe $100 each as charter members. The following are the officers of the club elected at the last meeting: President, Dr. J. H. W. Chestnut; First Vice President, Dr. P. D. Keyser; Second Vice President, Dr. H. A. Hare; Secretary, Dr. Lemuel J. Deal, and Treasurer, Dr. Roland G. Curtin.

The following ordinances have passed both branches of City Councils and will become laws: For the improvement of county roads and macadamized streets $96,000 are appropriated, to be expended as follows: For surfacing Frankford and Bristol turnpike, from Bridge Street to county line, $25,000; for completing the surfacing of Pine road, West from Strahl Street, $4500; for completing the surfacing of Longshore Street, $1500; for surfacing Magazine Lane, from Rope Ferry road to the River Schuylkill, $5000; for surfacing Mill Street, from Germantown Avenue to Chew Street, as far as the money will go, $10,000; for surfacing Ridge Avenue, from Jefferson Street to county line, as far as the money will go, $10,000; for resurfacing Township Line, Thirty-fifth Ward, $15,000; for resurfacing Rittenhouse Street, from Green Street, $4000; for resurfacing Elmwood Avenue and Fifty-eighth Street, $10,000; for resurfacing Sixtieth Street, Thirty-fourth Ward, Market to Haverford, $3000; for resurfacing Lansdowne Avenue, Thirty-fourth Ward, Fifty-sixth to Sixty-third Street, $3000; for resurfacing Conshohocken Avenue, Belmont Avenue to county line, $3000; for resurfacing Haverford Avenue, from Sixty-eighth Street to City Avenue, $2000.

The substantial old home of the Pennsylvania Company for Insurance on Lives and Granting Annuities, No. 431 Chestnut street, was sold by that company on the 22d inst., to the Finance Company of Pennsylvania for $225,000. It is understood that the Finance Company, which has been re-organized and which is now located in the Bullitt Building, will move into its new quarters in two or three months or sooner. The property acquired by it includes a lot about 30 feet front and 157 feet deep to Ranstead place. The building, which is a heavy three-story granite structure, is sandwiched between the People's Bank building on the west and the building of the Farmers and Mechanics' Bank on the east. It faces the Custom House and the Drexel Building on the south side of Chestnut street. The building was occupied by the Pennsylvania Company for many successful business years prior to the removal to the larger and handsome new building on the north side of Chestnut street, west of Fifth, opposite to the State House. It contains some first-class deposit vaults, and is otherwise well adapted to the Finance Company's business. The whole building will require more or less renovation and some interior work to make it comfortable, as it has stood vacant for quite a number of years.

$500 will be paid by the Proprietor to any one proving that this journal does not reach yearly more buyers of Building Material, Machinery, etc., in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia, than any other paper, devoted to building, published in America.

GENTLEMEN:

We want to contract with you for an advertisement in this journal on the following basis:

To wit: Independent of our subscription list, we will contract to send a copy of the paper containing your advertisement, weekly and continuously, to every architect in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Washington, D. C. Most of the Philadelphia architects are subscribers, and as we report their work weekly we must send a copy when reported.

Also, a copy containing your advertisement to every builder or owner obtaining a building permit in Philadelphia and Camden, N. J., during the entire year.

Also, a copy containing your advertisement to every builder, owner, contractor and agent in Philadelphia, Pa., New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and Washington, D. C., and, in fact, anywhere and everywhere whom we report in our columns as building or going to build. This means that we reach more builders and owners who will erect mills, factories, churches, warehouses, schools, country and city residences, court houses, contract work of all kinds, in our territory than any journal devoted to building published in the whole world.

To make this proposition sufficiently specific, we desire it understood that this is a part of our contract with advertisers. We have been doing this for years to the satisfaction and profit of our patrons. In fact, our method of distribution makes our advertising the most practical and profitable obtainable, for it needs no argument to prove that the man who must buy is the available customer, if you sell the wares he requires.

The success of this journal is based on honorable dealing. We do not cut our advertising rates. First, because we cannot afford to do so, and at the same time conscientiously carry out our contract with the advertisers to reach the greatest possible number of buyers. Second, we hold that the journal that will take your neighbor's advertisement (size and time being equal) for half the price at which yours was taken, merits neither your respect nor patronage, and must soon lose both.

We ask to be included in your advertising list of papers. We are sure that you will find ours the most profitable advertising you have ever done.

Yours Respectfully,

JOHN N. GALLAGHER,

Proprietor.
